* * * * * * *

I have known Hoofland's German Bitters favorably for a number of years. I have used them in my own family, and have been so pleased with their effects, that I was induced to recommend them to many others, and know that they have operated in a strikingly beneficial manner. I take great pleasure in thus publicly proclaiming this fact, and calling the attention of those afflicted with the diseases for which they are recommended, to these Bitters, knowing from experience that my recommendation will ever be sustained. I do this more cheerfully, as Hoofland's Bitters is intended to benefit the afflicted, and is "not a rum drink."

Yours, truly, LEVI G. BECK.

From Rev. W. D. Seigfried, Pastor of Twelfth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

GENTLEMEN: I have recently been laboring under the distressing effects of indigestion, accompanied by a prostration of the nervous system. Numerous remedies were recommended by friends, and some of them tested, but without relief. Your Hoofland's German Bitters were recommended by persons who had tried them, and whose favorable mention of these bitters induced me to try them. I must confess that I had an aversion to Patent Medicines, from the "thousand and one" quack "bitters," whose only aim seems to be to palm off sweetened and drugged liquor upon the community in a sly way, and the tendency of which, I fear, is to make many a confirmed drunkard. Upon learning that yours was really a medicinal preparation, I took it, with happy effect. Its action, not only upon the stomach, but upon the nervous system, was prompt and gratifying. I feel that I have derived great and permanent benefit from the use of a few bottles. Very respectfully yours,

W. D. SEIGFRIED, No. 254 Shackamaxon-st.

From A. M. Spangler, Editor of the Culturist, No. 25 North 6th-st.:

PHILADELPHIA, July 15, 1865.

Some eighteen months since I was a severe sufferer from dyspepsia. I was not only unable to take plain food without suffering great distress, but had become so debilitated as to be almost unfitted for active business of any kind.

After trying a variety of so-called remedies, all of which proved worthless, I was induced, at the suggestion of a medical friend, to give Hoofland's German Bitters a trial. I accordingly purchased six bottles, which were taken in accordance with your directions.

The result was complete removal of all distressing symptoms, after eating or drinking, and a full restoration of strength, so that I now eat all ordinary kinds of food with impunity, and am able to attend to all the active duties of a large and arduous business as well as at any period of my life. The good effects of the bitters were manifested before I had taken the first bottle.

I have also used it in my family with the happiest results, and take great pleasure in adding my testimony to that of the many others who have been benefited by them. I find great benefit from the use of a bottle in the Spring and Fall. They not only create a vigorous appetite, but give a healthy tone to the stomach, by strengthening its digestive powers.

If the above testimony will be the means of inducing any who suffer from dyspepsia to give your bitters a trial, (when it, I feel confident, will give them relief,) it is at your service. Yours truly,

A. M. SPANGLER.

From Rev. E. D. Fendall, Assistant Editor of the Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.

Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL.

From Rev. D. Merrige, Pastor of the Passyunk Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

From the many respectable recommendations given to Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I was induced to give them a trial. After using several bottles I found them to be a good remedy for debility, and a most excellent tonic for the stomach. D. MERRIGE.

From Rev. Wm. Smith, formerly Pastor of the Vincentown and Millville (N. J.) Baptist Churches, Philadelphia.

Having used in my family a number of bottles of your Hoofland's German Bitters, I have to say that I regard them as an excellent medicine, specially adapted to remove the diseases they are recommended for. They strengthen and invigorate the system when debilitated, and are useful in disorders of the liver, loss of appetite, &c. I have also recommended them to several of my friends, who have tried them and found them greatly beneficial in the restoration of health.

Yours, truly, WILLIAM SMITH,

From Rev. Thos. Winter, D. D., Pastor of Roxborough Baptist Church:

DEAR SIR: I feel it due to your excellent preparation, Hoofland's German Bitters, to add my testimony to the deserved reputation it has obtained. I have for years at times, been troubled with great disorder in my head and nervous system. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your German Bitters. I did so, and have experienced great and unexpected relief; my health has been very materially benefited. I confidently recommend the article where I meet with cases similar to my own, and have been assured by many of their good effects.

Respectfully yours,

T. WINTER, Roxborough, Penn.

From Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Reformed Church, Kutztown, Berks County, Penn.

RESPECTED SIR: I have been troubled with dyspepsia nearly twenty years, and have never used any medicine that did me as much good as Hoofland's Bitters. I am very much improved in health after having taken five bottles. Yours with respect, J. S. HERMAN.

UNION CITY CONVENTION.

Marshall O. Roberts Nominated for Mayor.

Ex-Judge Murray Hoffman for Corporation Counsel.

Addresses of Isaac Dayton, Charles S. Spencer, and Others.

EXPLANATION OF MR. JOHN V. GRIDLEY.

The Union Convention for the nomination of candidates for the offices of Mayor and Corporation Counsel, to be voted for at the ensuing election, was held last evening at the headquarters corner of Twenty-third-street and Broadway. Aside from the delegates, of which a full representation from each district was present, a numerous concourse assembled, and much interest in the action of the convention was manifested.

The convention was called to order by Hon. JAMES KELLY, who, on behalf of the Central Committee, nominated WM. R. STEWART, Esq., as Chairman, in which nomination the convention unanimously concurred. On motion Messrs. SINCLAIR TOUSEY and HENRY H. HUELAT were chosen Secretories.

It was moved that the roll of delegates be called, and that each delegate, when called, take his seat. Before, however, Secretary HUELAT had reached the end of the list, and as the name of JOHN B. GRIDLEY was called,

Hon. ISAAC DAYTON arose and moved, in view, he said, of certain statements that had been published in the newspapers respecting the course pursued by Mr. GRIDLEY in the late election, in connection with his being a candidate for member of Assembly—statements impugning his character as a politician and a citizen—that he be requested to withdraw from the convention. He made this motion not for the purpose of urging it at the present time, but so that, when an organization should have been effected, Mr. GRIDLEY should have an opportunity to explain to the convention and to the public his action with reference to such nomination. He believed Mr. GRIDLEY would make explanations that would be satisfactory to all present; but if he could not, he (Mr. DAYTON) should insist that he withdraw from the convention. He considered the making of such explanation due to the great body of the people of the city, who insist upon an honest administration of public affairs, and demand that every man in whom they repose confidence shall be honest, fair and aboveboard in all his transactions as a man, as a politician, and as a member of the party organization. [Applause.]

Hon. CHARLES S. SPENCER thought Mr. GRIDLEY should be at once permitted to make the proposed explanation, and hoped that he would be indulged in doing so.

Cries of "Call the roll."

The Chairman stated that the explanation could be made when the calling of the roll should have been finished.

When the calliug of the roll had been completed, Mr. GRIDLEY explained: That when he accepted the nomination for member of Assembly in the Eleventh District, he was led to suppose that he would have the assistance of certain parties, which he afterward learned he could not have. The Citizen's Association had nominated the candidate of "The Ring," and he and Mr. CHARLICK were both in the field opposed to that nominee. On the Saturday night previous to the election, knowing that that candidate could not be defeated while both were opposed to him, he withdrew. There was not a man living who dared to make the statement in such a way as to be responsible for it, that he had been induced by any improper means to withdraw from that canvass. He did not even know Mr. CHARLICK. Mr. C. had been indorsed by some of the best men of the ward, and he considered him preferable to the other candidate.

Mr. DAYTON thought Mr. GRIDLEY's statement such as entirely exonerated him from the imputations cast upon him.

On motion, it was unanimously resolved that the present officers be the permanent officers of the meeting. It having been likewise resolved that the rules of the General Committee be the rules of this convention. A motion by Mr. HALL, that they go into an informal ballot for a candidate for the office of Mayor, each delegate expressing his preference as his name was called, was unanimously carried.

The ballot was taken, with the following result:

Marshall O. Roberts	81
Hon. Frederick A. Conkling	28
John W. Farmer	7
John Fitch	1
J. G. Abbe	1

Hon. CHARLES S. SPENCER moved that the nomination of MARSHALL O. ROBERTS be made unanimous. He made this motion the more cheerfully, he said, because he believed that, under the banner of the gentleman about to be nominated, the City of New-York, by the same party that had saved the Union, could itself be redeemed. [Loud applause.]

The motion was unanimously adopted with great enthusiasm, followed by three rousing cheers for the candidate.

A delegate moved that Hon. MURRAY HOFFMAN be nominated by acclamation as the candidate of the convention for the office of Corporation Counsel.

Hon. CHARLES S. SPENCER arose and said that he had another candidate to place before the convention. Every one present was willing to concede the merits, the eminent abilities and high character of Mr. HOFFMAN, the gentleman just nominated; but he was no longer young in years; his high standing as a jurist was undoubtedly more satisfactory to him than his election to the office of Corporation Counsel could be; he was probably no aspirant for official honors, and he was not sure that Judge HOFFMAN would accept the nomination if it were tendered him. He desired to present for the considerate action of the convention a gentleman whom he thought in every way qualified to discharge the duties of the office of Corporation Counsel—a gentleman who was the associate of the most distinguished jurist in the country, WILLIAM M. EVARTS,—a young man, popular with the profession and of the highest character—JOSEPH H. CHOATE. [Applause.]

Mr. WHITE said it would give him great pleasure to second the nomination just made, but he had in his mind a gentleman who had been a candidate before, and when such, had received a very large vote—JOHN SEDGWICK. As between Mr. HOFFMAN, Mr. CHOATE and Mr. SEDGWICK, he had no personal preference. The first, Mr. HOFFMAN, had retired, to a certain extent, from the practice of the profession. But he was a good Union man, and the party could well afford to elect him. He had no authority for saying that Mr. SEDGWICK would accept the nomination; but his nomination, if he would accept, would be a good one; beside being in every way worthy, he would poll a large vote. The principal object, however, was to successfully oppose the election of RICHARD O'GORMAN, whose nomination had been forced upon the people. [Applause.] He had nothing to say against Mr. O'GORMAN personally, but considering his political status, he had been one of the very worst men in the city. He had denounced the administration—done everything in his power to oppose it. He hoped the convention would nominate a man whose loyalty was not to be questioned.

Postmaster KELLY thought it would have been wise to ask Mr. HOFFMAN if he would accept the nomination? Several of our most distinguished Union lawyers had been asked to accept the nomination, but for various reasons had declined. He had heard, however, that Mr. HOFFMAN had said they might do with his name as they chose. [Applause.]

The convention proceeded to take a viva voce ballot. Before the calling of the poll had been completed, however, it being apparent that Mr. HOFFMAN would be the successful candidate, Mr STEWART moved that the further calling of the names of delegates be dispensed with, and that Mr. HOFFMAN be declared the nominee of the convention. Some objection being made, the taking of the ballot was resumed, at the completion of which the following was announced as the result:

Murray Hoffman	101
Joseph H. Choate	10
John Sedgwick	3
Geo. F. Steinbrenner	1
E. Delafield Smith	1

On motion, the nomination of Hon. MURRAY HOFFMAN was made unanimous.

Three cheers were then given for Mr. HOFFMAN.

Hon. ISAAC DAYTON moved that a committee of ten, the officers of this meeting, and seven other delegates be appointed to wait on Mr. ROBERTS and Mr. HOFFMAN and acquaint them with their nomination by the convention.

It was moved that the resolution be amended, and that the officers of the meeting alone constitute such committee.

The vote upon the amendment was lost. That upon the original resolution was carried.

Hon. CHARLES S. SPENCER moved that a committee of seventeen, one from each district, be appointed, to make arrangements for a grand ratification meeting, to ratify the nominations of the convention.

Which motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. SPENCER moved further, that a committee of five be appointed to draw up an address and resolutions.

Which motion was also unanimously carried.

The Chairman announced the following as the committee to apprise Messrs. ROBERTS and HOFFMAN of their nomination: Isaac Dayton, L. C. Moore, Owen W. Brennan, Chester A. Arthur, Wm. Atkinson, Robert Edwards, Sheridan Shook, Wm. R. Stewart, Henry H. Huelat, Sinclair Tousey.

And the following as the committee to make arrangements for the ratification meeting:

First District, John M. Costa; Second, Hy. G. Leask; Third, Samuel S. Wycoff; Fourth, Charles H. Hall; Fifth, Wm. Hepburn; Sixth, David Miller; Seventh, John W. Thorne; Eighth, William H. Kinney; Ninth, Charles S. Spencer; Tenth, George F. Steinbrenner; Eleventh, A. J. Dittenhoeffer; Twelfth, Lewis H. Watts; Thirteenth, James E. Coulter; Fourteenth, John D. Ottiwell; Fifteenth, Thomas B. Astin; Sixteenth, Geo. B. Van Brunt; Seventeenth, W. C. Waring.

And the following as the committee to prepare an address and resolutions: John Lobdell, John H. White, Elliott F. Shepard, James Kelly, Sinclair Tousey.

On motion, the thanks of the convention were unanimously tendered to its officers, Messrs. STEWART, TOUSEY and HUELAT, for the able manner in which they had discharged their duties as such.

After which, the convention adjourned with three cheers for the ticket.

SERENADE TO GOV. FENTON.

Cordial Reception of His Excellency—His Speech.

The complimentary serenade, of which Gov. FENTON was the recipient, last night, at the Fifth-avenue Hotel, favored by the mildly beautiful night, was quite a popular ovation. Long before the hour named for the arrival of the serenaders every available spot within seeing distance of the facade of the hotel or of the fireworks opposite, was filled with eager expectants, with the usual average of less patient youths who, clinging to the railing or clambering up the trees of the Madison Park, cheered in squeaky tenor anything and everything affording them the ready inspiration. Rocket after rocket threw up its shower of tinted stars, flinging alternate flashes of azure and vermillion on the marble building, and on the upturned faces of the crowd.

At 10 o'clock GRAFULLA's band arrived, and the serenade began. Choice operatic selections were beautifully given, followed by some of our most popular marches. In the meantime the Governor, accompanied by his daughter, JOSEPHINE, received several hundred of our most prominent military men and citizens, among whom we were able to distinguish Col. F. A. Conkling, Col. Elliott F. Shepard, Judges E. P. Coles and J. H. White, Hon. B. F. Manierre, Ex-Mayor Opdyke, Senator Laimbeer, Charles S. Spencer, Amor J. Williamson, W. H. Neilson, Isaac Sherman, J. M. Thomson and N. Sands, Esqs., but in the crowded rooms we must necessarily have failed to observe many others of note.

In response to the repeated cheering of the crowd outside, and the now impatient calls for the Governor, Mr. FENTON stepped out upon the balcony and was received with cheering so enthusiastic that the best efforts of GRAFULLA at "See the Conquering Hero Comes," looked like phrenzied pantomime below. The "clash of cymbal and the loud bassoon" were drowned in the giant swell of the great "vox populi."

Col. CONKLING having introduced the Governor in complimentary and eloquent terms, Mr. FENTON addressed the people in the following words:

SPEECH OF GOV. FENTON.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: I thank you for this very kind welcome—not in the sense of a personal compliment, for which it could not be intended, but because I may in some degree construe your welcome as an approval of my public conduct. At least, I feel that whatever care or anxiety there is incident to the position I occupy, it is alleviated by the cheer of your generous approval. You can hardly expect or desire me to make an elaborate speech, for in this, whatever else I may do well, I have no especial ability or success, more particularly without previous preparation. Nor have my views upon the grand questions of domestic and foreign concern such importance that you care to hear them at this time. We have happily passed from recent civil strife and individual self-sacrifice to a period of comparative quiet and prosperity. We have seen that our loyal countrymen throughout the severe struggle were resolved to bear the heavy burdens of the crisis rather than surrender the principle of our free institutions. And we have just emerged from a civil engagement at the ballot-box, exhibiting the highest determination of the American people to enjoy the first fruits of a glorious contest. The history of human conduct presents no example more significant and sublime. We may rejoice, then, not only in the success of this man or that party, but in all our victories, and in the progress of our country, as the triumph of a commonwealth of freemen in the cause of republican government. Here in this great Metropolis, the mart of trade and commerce, the centre of monetary operations, the home of mighty, industrial energies, the people have the deepest interest in the peace, the purity, and the economy of government. The highest advancement and welfare of your great city is a political and commercial necessity; a necessity to State and national progress and security. You well understand that no wealth, or splendor of city, or citizens, no effort of skilled industry or the laborers, can save a faithless and corrupt government from perishing. Every lesson of the past as well as the wisdom of the present teaches us that the great ends of society are best promoted by a constant adherence to faithful experiences in virtue, patriotism, simplicity and economy. The contest on our part for the attainment of the pure and just objects of government is not ended. We have the best country to be found within equal parallels on the earth's surface; we have the best system of civil institutions ever devised by man, and I have to invoke you to continued vigilance in all that relates to the highest development of the one, and the most enlarged freedom, stability and success of the other.

Appreciating as we do our advantage over all other people in the physical geography of our country, and in our civil and religious liberties, I need hardly say that our responsibility is heightened for the harmonious restoration of popular government, and the maintenance of republican principles on this continent. It rests with us to be true to the principles of the fathers, true to our precious interests, and true to all that is of priceless value to our posterity. We cannot afford, as we do not desire, to occupy an equivocal or hesitating position upon questions affecting the humanity or justice of our age. I feel a just pride in the position occupied by the great State of New-York, in the intelligence, convictions and conscience of her citizens; and I rejoice in all the evidences of national vigor, life and honor. I am persuaded that we shall perpetuate our privileges, and increase in magnanimity and justice with each succeeding generation. I cannot omit the opportunity to express my gratification at the manly appearance and discipline of the National Guard of your city, which I have had the pleasure of reviewing to-day. It is a noble organization of patriotic men, and affords increased confidence in the peace, order and safety of society. I thank you again, fellow-citizens, for the opportunity of expressing my profound sense of obligations to you, and to assure you of my sympathy and cooperation in all that relates to the progress and welfare of this great city. [Applause.]

On the conclusion of the speech, which was frequently interrupted by applause, the great pyrotechnic piece of the evening came off, with pleasing success. In the centre was the motto "Excelsior," and underneath, "Welcome to Reuben E. Fenton," surmounted by an eagle all of varied colored fires. To the right we read, "The guardian of the people's rights," and to the left, "The able general and the honest man."

The fireworks concluded, the Governor retired amidst vociterous cheering, and, entering the reception room, remained till a late hour with the numerous friends who still crowded in to see him. As the last great bomb was fired and followed by a shower of fire. A true Hibernian, bursting with admiration, demanded "What that was?" "That's golden rain, sir." "Goolden rain is it, alanna? Hurroo! another cheer for the Governor!—it's comin' back to spacie payment we are." And the affair was over.

RETURN OF THE PHILDELPHIA FIRE COMPANY—EX CURSION TO-DAY.—Philadelphia Fire Company No. 18, with their elegant steam fire engine, hose carriage and ambulance, arrived in Jersey City, at 7 o'clock, last evening, on their return home from Albany and Troy. They were escorted from the Hudson River Railroad depot by Chief Engineer MCLOUGHLIN, of Jersey City, NOAH D. TAYLOR, foreman of Steam Fire Engine No. 1 of Jersey City, and a delegation from that company. After housing their apparatus, the company proceeded to Taylor's Hotel, where they partook of a sumptuous collation, after which they spent the balance of the evening at the Broadway Theatre. To-day they will take an excursion up the East River in the steamer Matamora, chartered by Engine Company No. 1 of Jersey City, and will visit the institutions at Blackwell's and Randall's Islands, and will leave for home at 4 P. M. They will have a grand reception and torchlight procession in Philadelphia to-night.

EVACUATION DAY CELEBRATION

Splendid Display of the New-York State National Guard.

THE FIRST DIVISION ON PARADE.

Nearly Ten Thousand Men in Line.

The Parade, the Review, and the Marching Salute.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PARADE.

The celebration of Evacuation Day by the First Division, yesterday, was by far one of the most imposing and successful parades ever made by that splendid body of citizen soldiery. True, there were some inaccuracies, but the tout ensemble was finer than that of any previous parade made during the last four years. The numbers in line, the completeness of outfit, and the general appearance of the division, all stamp the parade of yesterday as of the grandest yet made in this city.

As if in sympathy and complete harmony with the joyous feelings usually engendered by this anniversary of the evacuation of New-York, the day broke bright and clear, and the sun rose in all his splendor. A more beautiful day for a parade of our city military was never seen, and after the unpleasant weather of the previous two or three days, the change was both acceptable and enjoyable. The soldiers were never in better spirits for a review, and they all turned out to celebrate the day in a becoming and enthusiastic manner.

At an early hour could be seen individual members of the various regiments, armed and equipped cap-a-pie, wending their ways to the respective armories. The national colors were displayed from the public and private buildings throughout the city, and the old-time enthusiasm which once marked the celebration of the day seemed to have been revived, giving the city much of a holiday appearance.

Long before the troops began to assemble on Fourteenth-street, the crowd of spectators was fast gathering, everybody evincing an eagerness to obtain the most favorable position to view the procession. As the regiments marched upon the ground, with bands playing and banners flying in the fresh November wind, they were most enthusiastically cheered by the multitude. The police arrangements were good, and no difficulty was experienced by the commanding officers in forming their respective regiments. Notwithstanding the publication of the programme of arrangements in nearly all the daily papers, large numbers of persons—who were not as well posted as they ought to have been—loitered about the City Hall Park, and sauntered along Broadway, in the expectation of seeing the display. They were, however, disappointed, for the route of the procession did not include Broadway below Fourteenth-street, having been changed for a more practicable route up town.

THE REVIEW

Shortly after 1 o'clock, Fourteenth-street resounded with the strains of the numerous regimental bands, as they marched to their respective places in line. As is usual in such cases, the formation of the line for review was delayed beyond the hour fixed, but less time was lost yesterday than has been known in former years. The line was formed in Fourteenth-street, with the extreme right resting on Broadway, and the left extending several blocks up Ninth-avenue. The appearance of the division while in line was magnificent. The flashing of the bayonets in the sunlight; the dark and silent ranks of men, standing to arms; the bright and glowing colors and regimental banners flaunting in the clear, cheertul air; all went to make up a picture of rare beauty. It was, indeed, the sunny side of the soldier's life, one far different from those dark and dreadful scenes so often witnessed during the four years of war now happily past.

As soon as the line was formed word was sent to the Governor that all was in readiness. Shortly after 2 o'clock he made his appearance, attended by his staff. The Governor was in citizen's dress and mounted on a chestnut horse. His staff appeared in the full uniform of their respective ranks, and consisted of Gens. IRVINE, BARNEKELLER, SWAINE, PALMER, MERRITT and HALL, besides several officers of lower rank. As Gov. FENTON rode through Union-square, a salute of twenty-four guns by the veterans of 1812, heralded his approach to the troops, who speedily straightened into line and stood at "attention."

After the customary formalities the review of the division took place, Gen. SANDFORD accompanying the Governor down the line.

THE ROUTE OF MARCH.

The review over, the division was wheeled into column, and the route of march taken up as follows: Up Fourth-avenue, through Twenty-third-street, Madison-avenue and Thirty-fourth-street to Fifth-avenue, and down Fifth-avenue to Washington Parade-ground, paying the honors of the marching salute to the Commander-in-Chief, near the Worth Monument. The column moved at 3 o'clock in the following order:

Troop of Cavalry, as Escort.

Major-Gen. C. W. Sandford, commanding First Division N. G. S. N. Y., and Staff.

FIRST BRIGADE.

Col. Brooke Postley, Third Cavalry, commanding First Brigade, and Staff.

Twenty-third Regiment Infantry, Col. Calvin E. Pratt.
Seventy-seventh Regiment Infantry, Col. Thomas Lynch.
Ninety-ninth Regiment Infantry, Col. John O'Mahony.
First Regiment Cavalry, Col. D. C. Minton.

Ninety-sixth Regiment Infantry, Col. John D. Krehbiel.
Fourth Regiment Artillery, Col. Daniel W. Telier.

THIRD BRIGADE.

Brig.-Gen. William Hall, commanding Third Brigade, and Staff.
Seventh Regiment Infantry, Col. Emmons Clark.
Eighth Regiment Infantry, Col. Joshua M. Varian.
Ninth Regiment Infantry, Col. John H. Wilcox.
Thirty-seventh Regiment Infantry, Col. Chas. M. Catlin.
Fifty-fifth Regiment Infantry, Col. Eugene Le Gal.

FOURTH BRIGADE.

Col. Lloyd Aspinwall, commanding Fourth Brigade and Brigade Staff.
Eleventh Regiment Infantry, Col. Joachim Maidhoff.
Twenty-second Regiment Infantry, Lieut.-Col. James F. Cox.
Sixty-ninth Regiment Infantry, Col. James Bagley.
Ninety-fifth Regiment Infantry, Col. S. R. Pinckney.
One Hundred and Second Regiment Infantry, Col. John N. Wilsey.

As the troops passed through the designated streets and avenues the sidewalks were filled with fast-gathering crowds of spectators. The balconies and stoops of the dwellings situate along the route were filled with ladies and children, all anxious to witness the display. It was estimated that fully 30,000 persons were out to see the parade, Broadway and Fifth-avenue being completely blocked with men, women and children.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PARADE.

Taken in detail the parade of the First Division was a very good one, although some few errors could be discerned by a critical eye. The different regiments were kept well in hand, and the entire order of parade was carefully observed. The most noticeable feature of the parade was the presence of so many veterans from the field, who wore upon their breasts the emblem of the corps in which they had served. Another was the completeness of the equipments of the majority of the commands, and the general freshness of the uniforms. The bands and drum corps belonging to the different regiments, were unusually correct in the essential matters of uniform, several of the more prominent organizations making a very fine appearance. In making up the following detailed description, we have endeavored to show some glaring errors, as well as give all proper praise to those regiments parading.

FIRST BRIGADE.

The Second Infantry led the brigade, and had three hundred men on parade, who wore overcoats. The command appeared to very good advantage. It is a pity this regiment did not have more than one flag. Their drum corps was fair.

The Seventy-first Infantry (American Guard) paraded four hundred men, wearing no overcoats. This fine regiment ought to have had more men out on parade, considering the time it has been organized. The Seventy-first marched exceedingly well, but it does not make that superb appearance so customary to it when the lamented VOSBURGH was at its head. The drum corps and band were in tolerable shape.

The Twenty-third Infantry (Brooklyn) came over from Long Island to join in the parade, and had four hundred men in line. They made a first-rate appearance in the old style of gray fatigue uniform just abandoned by the Seventh. The marching of the Twenty-third was excellent.

The Seventy-seventh Infantry only came out with some two hundred men, and were only in middling condition. Their uniforms were good, but the marching of the companies was not correct nor even.

The Ninety-ninth Infantry came out with some two hundred and fifty men, and had three flags in the color guard. This is not right. No regiment should have more than two. The companies were not evened off properly, giving the command a ragged appearance.

The First Cavalry paraded nearly three hundred sabres, and were in excellent trim. The only thing faulty was the want of uniformity, several members being without overcoats.

The Third Cavalry brought up the rear of the First Brigade, and had over four hundred sabres flashing in the sunlight. The Third was worse than the First in the matter of uniformity. Two or three men in a company without overcoats breaks up the appearance of the command very much, and it should not be allowed.

SECOND BRIGADE.

This brigade was headed by the Fifth Heavy Artillery, (generally supposed to be an infantry regiment) and was in most superb shape, fully as good as any regiment in the division. Their uniform was strictly correct, according to the regular United States pattern; having felt hats and feathers with cross cannons and red cords. Their frock coats were in perfect keeping and the brass scales on the men's shoulders set off the appearance of the command admirably. The Fifth is fortunate in possessing so good a drum corps. The number of men on parade was nearly six hundred.

The Sixth Infantry had fully four hundred men in line, and the regiment was in good shape, appearing in a blue chasseur uniform, neat and serviceable.

The Twelfth Infantry also appeared in a chasseur uniform, similar to the one they adopted in 1861, while at Washington under BUTTERFIELD, with the exception of the leggins. The caps worn by this regiment are very handsome, and the general turnout of the command was good, although placing the color-guard on the right of the color company, was something new, and not usually seen. This ought never to occur in a well-drilled regiment.

The Eighty-fourth Infantry paraded somewhere about four hundred men, and the command had a fine appearance. Their chasseur uniform was good, and Col. CONKLIN can congratulate himself on having such a regiment.

The Ninety-sixth Infantry was in pretty fair shape, although they committed the same error as the Twelfth, in having their colors on the right of the color company. The number of men on parade was about three hundred and fifty. Some of the companies had no sergeants, an omission which ought to have been remedied.

The Fourth Artillery had three batteries of twelve-pound Parrotts, with about three hundred men. The appearance of the Fourth was very good, their equipments being in fair condition. The men should have had overcoats, as it was cold riding on caissons. This command closed the Second Brigade.

THIRD BRIGADE.

The Seventh Infantry (National Guard) turned out in magnificent style, having about eight hundred and fifty men in parade, being splendidly equipped in the new and tasteful chasseur uniform lately adopted by the command. The Seventh, as it always does, came out in perfect order, having everything quite en regle. The full dress cap worn yesterday was very showy, with its dark green plume, and the neat black epaulette set off the uniform admirably. The regiment was formed by platoons, and the marching was fair, though not up to the usual standard of the Seventh.

The Eighth Infantry (Washington Greys) paraded over four hundred and fifty men, and the regiment was uniformly dressed in overcoats. The marching of the Eighth was splendid, and their general appearance worthy the high reputation of the "Greys." They had three colors in line, though that was no fault of theirs, as the color which they returned to Mrs. SECOR was left in their keeping by that lady. Still, the extra color marred the parade of the Eighth.

The Ninth Infantry surprised everybody by its full ranks, nearly 400 men being in line. The uniform of this regiment was of the same neat and handsome style as that worn by the Ninth while in the field. The drum corps was good and well drilled. With such advantages, it was to be regretted that the regiment had not wheeled into column by companies, instead of by platoons. Had the former been the case, a vast improvement would have been the result, and the marching would have been much better than it was.

The Thirty-seventh Infantry appeared with about three hundred men, wearing overcoats, and appearing to excellent advantage. This regiment ought to make a better show of numbers, as it is one of the rising organizations.

The Fifty-fifth Infantry (Garde Lafayette) was in fair order, having nearly four hundred men on parade. The marching of the command was good, but the companies were not properly evened off, and the presence of so many men without overcoats marred the uniformity of the parade. As customary with the Fifty-fifth, they were accompanied by the Weandière attached to the regiment, but the absence of the pioneers was noticeable. They ought to be restored, as a French regiment is not complete without them.

FOURTH BRIGADE.

The Eleventh (Washington Rifles) headed the brigade of Col. ASPINWALL, and came out in great strength, having over 550 rifles in line. The regiment appeared in overcoats, and their equipments were fully up to the mark. This excellent German regiment is destined to hold a high reputation in the division.

The Twenty-second Infantry fully realized the great expectations entertained by its numerous friends, parading nearly seven hundred men. The neat and serviceable chasseur uniform worn by this rising regiment, with their sword-bayonets and rifles, give the Twenty-second a showy and attractive appearance. The marching of the command was superb, and gave abundant testimony to the rigid discipline and drill maintained in the regiment. Their band and drum corps were also good.

The gallant Sixty-ninth Infantry, which has sent so many of its members to the field, made a fine parade, having about three hundred men out. This regiment is sadly neglected, and it was surprising that the command made so good an appearance. They had also three colors.

The Ninety-fifth Infantry paraded nearly two hundred and fifty men, and was in poor trim, in comparison with other regiments. The command would have appeared to better advantage had it been compressed into six companies. The eight companies were not uniform in the number of files, which always spoils a parade.

The One Hundred and Second Infantry brought up the rear, and was in tolerable shape—they could not do much in the way of marching, as the breaking up of the crowds along the line of march greatly incommoded them.

THE MARCHING SALUTE

to the Governor, at the foot of Gen. WORTH's monument, was the closing ceremony of the day, and was witnessed by a great crowd of spectators. After reviewing the division as it stood in line in Fourteenth-street, and receiving the proper salute, Gov. FENTON rode up Fifth-avenue to the point where he was to receive the marching salute. So speedily was the column put in motion after his departure that but little time was lost in waiting for the head of the division to make its appearance. The Belgian or trap pavement on Fifth-avenue, is better fitted for infantry movements than the Russ pavement on Broadway, especially when either are wet. This was especially noticeable when the division was marching in review before the Commander-in-Chief, and it was pleasing to notice the steadiness of the column at that point. The leading regiment reached the Fifth-avenue Hotel about 3:30 o'clock, and the entire parade was nearly an hour in passing that place. The route of parade was excellently laid out, and just sufficient for the deploying of the division, for the Second Regiment reached Union-square as the rear guard passed into Fourth-avenue. For some hours after the breaking up of the parade, the streets were enlivened by the crash and swell of martial music, as the respective regiments marched to their several armories. Thus ended the most successful parade ever held in this city.

THE STRONG CASE.

Second Day's Proceedings--Opening of the Plaintiff's Counsel.

Address of Mr. Cram---Remarkable Charges of Murder, Bribery, Perjury and Corruption.

Scene in Court --- Sparring Between Counsel.

The second day's proceedings in the STRONG divorce case were witnessed by an immense audience. The opening of HENRY A. CRAM, Esq., of counsel for the plaintiff, was extremely long and very able. He commenced speaking at 11 o'clock and closed at 2 P. M. We give the substance of his address:

ADDRESS OF MR. CRAM.

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: This is an action for ivorce. The plaintiff is the husband, the defendant the wife; but the real parties are two little girls, my clients; and on the other side is not a poor, foolish woman, but a rich and powerful family, who have taken a misguided course, and have threatened to crush and ruin my client. These little girls are then on one side, and this rich and influential family are on the other, determined that my little ones shall lose their father, as they have already lost their mother.

Mr. CRAM then went into the history of the case, showing that several years since the father of Mr. STRONG died leaving several children. Prior to that an uncle died leaving these children a portion of his estate, the part falling to my client being about $4,000 per annum. Mr. STRONG, Senior, left his property to the widow, providing that there should be a home for all the children. This she has kept, and is now seventy-six years old, blind, nearly paralytic, having lived at Newtown ever since with her children. This has been considered a crime—that in this America it is unsafe for people to live together in a common home, and I shall leave it to you to de ermine if it was ill-judged or wicked. Besides these people, Mr. LYNCH—the husband of one of the daughters—lived there. Mr. STRONG was educated for the bar, but never practiced, attending only to his mother's estate. In 1853 he married MARY STEVENS, daughter of the President of the Bank of Commerce. She was one of many daughters, for Mr. STEVENS had many such, and one only son, with whom you will be well acquainted ere long, and not to his advantage either. The marriage was one of mutual desire and mutual affection. That ensured their happiness, and they could have walked through life undismayed and glad of heart. So they started—they were happy, for they really had this love, I believe, at that time. Plaintiff had quiet domestic habits, was not fond of fashionable life and cared only for his home. The marriage was blessed with a child in in April, 1864, in 1855 they went to Europe for two years. Just then EDWARD STRONG, a brother, lost his wife and went to live in his mother's house. He was inconsolable for the loss of his wife, grieving with a great grief. His thoughts apparently turned toward the consolation of religion. He turned also to the wife of my client and shortly after this crime was commitied. They afterward had two little girls. The resilience of the plaintiff and defendant at the mother's home was of mutual desire. Mr. STRONG could not live in the city, for he had no income which would permit him to keep up such an establishment as the family of his wife would desire. EDWARD built a Sunday-school, joined a church, and was one of its officers. He then wore a religious garb, and with the defendant paid great attention to religious matters generally. Thus they all lived in this quiet country home. At that time incest crept into that circle despite the watchguards and protections that stood sentinel at the portals of that family home. EDWARD and MARY grew intimate, riding and walking together. PETER did not suspect anything wrong—who could or would ever have suspected so dreadful a crime? No man ever did or will suspect his brother of a crime so unparalleled. The crime began in the Spring of 1860, apart of the time MARY bore poor dead EDITH under her heart. She had at this time with her her poor blind mother, her two little children, and was again about to become a mother, and yet from the period of 1860 to the holidays of 1861, the crime continued broken only then by the departure of EDWARD to the army. The plaintiff was all this time kind and attentive, and gratified her every wish. He rarely left her, and then only on business. Up to this time their life had been happy, but now an estrangement grew up. At the end of 1861, EDWARD left for the army; he returned on furlough on the 21st of December, and left a week after, about the 27th of December. He passed the week in the plaintiff's house in Twenty-first-street; from that time to the end of the war he left this part of the country, and the plaintiff has never seen him since. Then the crime was disclosed, for remorse was at work. The defendant, again with child, found that her passion was a real and terrible one, and she could have had no doubts as to its paternity. When her lover left her, God took one of her children away, and left her subject to all these passions. I propose now to give you the simple narrative of the discovery of the crime, in the very words that my client told it to me, the first interview I had with him. It is his language, not mine. The simple language of truth, and not the artful words of the advocate: "Edith was taken ill about the 23d of December, 1861, and died January 2, 1862. She was buried on the 4th. On the evening of the 5th of January his child MARY, read a chapter from the Bible to his wife and to him. It conta ned some reference to the duty of affection and kindness to our fellow-creatures. After the children had left the room, he drew his chair close to his wife's, and took her hand and said, 'I trust that the words which we have heard may teach us both to cultivate more fully than we have done of late, that duty which alone can insure our future happiness.' The wife seemed most strangely and violently agitated, and rising from her chair flung herself at his feet, and implored him to forgive her for her long neglect and indifference. He told her that he was not disposed to judge too harshly her conduct in the past, and hoped that the future would retrieve all. Her agitation seemed to increase, and she said, 'Oh! forgive me, forgive me; you could not conceive how guilty I have been. What I have to tell you will separate us forever.' Plaintiff told her that her excitement led her to exaggerate her neglect, and that he was disposed to forgive and forget all. She said, 'But you do not understand me; I have been far more guilty than you imagine.' Plaintiff did not even then suspect the truth, but her terrible agitation began to fill him with horror and dismay. Defendant finally succeeded in convincing plaintiff of her guilt. Plaintiff sat stupified and overwhelmed. He felt no anger, only shame and loathing. There are losses to which bereavement by death are comparatively a gain. The first image which separated itself from the crowd which pressed upon his brain was that of his darling children stained and polluted by this nameless crime. Then arose the image of this poor, blind mother, aged and helpless, whose family altar had been so foully desecrated; and then of the gray-haired man to whom he had striven to be as a son, and whom he had learned to love and respect as a second father; he had no thought of self. Plaintiff remained crushed and silent, until she arose and went to the door of the room. Plaintiff said: 'Where are you going?' She answered: 'I go mingle with lost creatures like myself.' Plaintiff called her back, and told her to sit down and tell him all. She did so, taking most of the blame upon herself. She then urged plaintiff to go to bed with her, saying, 'If you do not now, you never will again.' The first thing done was to call her servant, when a bed was prepared for her, and he has never since been with her. He determined to try and conceal, and bear the burden of his mystery alone and for the sake of his children, his wife and the ladies of his wife's family. He did an unwise thing, and became the victim, living with her in the same house, making all the world believe that there was no crime on her part. Soon after this oral confession, MARY made a full and sent a letter to EDWARD, telling him that all had been discovered, and now she had returned her love to her husband again. She gave a copy of the letter to her husband, was submissive and repentant. For three weeks PETER kept the secret to himself and then went to the father of his wife and told him the story. At first STEVENS professed to believe him crazy, but after the defendant admitted it, he protested he would be true to Mr. Strong, so help him God. Mr. STEVENS told his wife and one of his daughters, and MARY told it herself to Mrs. BEDELL, sister of PETER. The plaintiff did not know what to do with her, but finally went to Islip, where he hired a house. They went there in May, 1862, seeking only secrecy, living within four walls, with this nameless horror about him. Could he do it? He tried it with patience and heroism over a year. They had mutual repulsion; he had no joy in the presence of his children; and what a house to bring up children in!

He then abandoned Islip, and she went to live at her father's while he went to his mother's. It was known to the members of her family that they did not cohabit. For a domestic mishap which occurred just prior to this, this defence has attempted to send the father of my clients to the State Prison as partner in the procuration, but it has never yet been found that they disapproved of her desire to secure the end. In April, 1863, old Mrs. STRONG moved into the city and PETER went with her, having put away his wife, although still keeping up the secrecy. People began to talk and rumor tattled. At this time the wife confessed her crime to Mrs. BENJAMIN STRONG. She then went to live with Mrs. BECKSHER, and when PETER went there separate beds were provided for them. All this time the kindest family feeling was manifested by the Stevens people, who then knew all that they knew afterward when they sought to send him to State's Prison. Had he done as any other man would, and demanded his children, there would have been no trouble. He pursued, however, an opposite course, and soon a spirit of hostility, defiance and revenge arose, and in 1863 she insisted upon her right to the children. One lived with him and the other with her, and finally she shut the door upon him claiming the right to his child. The Stevens people employed counsel long before he did, and he only resorted to this suit when he found he could not get his child. Up to this time the secret had been kept from the only son, JOHN A. STEVENS, Jr., but now it was told him and he has since been the chief adviser in attack and defence, and his conduct was such as when laid open before you will fully characterize itself and him for the rest of his life. All that my client wanted or wants is his children, and he commenced the suit, charging under oath these crimes upon his wife. The defendant did not deny under oath the allegations, but in a brief answer simply denied them, and says if it was true the plaintiff was debarred by his full forgiveness. He had exposed himself to this difficulty for her sake and the sake of his children, and therefore, to say the least, it was a rather peculiar defence. Negotiations for settlement were then commenced. He only wanted the children, and cared nothing for a divorce; but she insisted upon a special right to the children. In June, 1864, the wife and little ones were living with the father. A writ of habeas corpus was served on Mr. STEVENS and the wife. She flew away, defying the order of the court, and has since been a fugitive. She kidnapped and ran away with the child; this innocent woman fled with the child; and from that day she has remained concealed. Why did she fly, and why has she cruelly concealed the child? Is it the conduct of an innocent woman? These people, arrogant in their position, sit and smile fearenely upon us, saying, "If we gain the suit, we get all the benefit of it; if you do, we still defy you, for we have stolen the subject-matter of the jurisdiction." Soon thereafter a statement was published in the papers—a report of the child's death at Portland. We hastened there and found it false. The suit went on and was ready for trial in 1864. Up to this time nothing had been said against the plaintiff. Old Mrs. STRONG had a house in Waverley-place, which was rented to a man named POTTER, the husband of ELEONRA POTTER, who was never seen by PETER until March, 1862. He then rented them the house. Later a Mrs. WALSH formed a medical partnership with Mrs. POTTER. The rent was not paid punctually. Mrs. STRONG senior made an allowance of $100 to these two tenants, Mr. PETER STRONG being her agent. At this time Mr. JOHN A. STEVENS, Jr., attempted to induce Mrs. POTTER to swear that Mr. STRONG had committed an abortion. He failed to do it. SARAH ANN BIXBY, a friend and acquaintance of Mrs. WALSH, a woman of bad antecedents, turned up about this time—she married a vagabond named MASSEY, and the two, induced by Mr. JOHN AUSTIN STEVENS, Jr., are prominent people in this case. They had no money, and started on their honeymoon without any funds. Finally they appeared to STEVENS. Their trunks in pawn at WILLARD'S, in Washington, and they desolate and moneyless in New-York. They were ready for any enterprise provided it would pay. The enterprise was ready and so was the pay. They were two dangerous vagabonds, and Mr. STEVENS met them in that situation, as he also met Mrs. WALSH.

REMARKABLE CHARGES.

JOHN AUSTIN STEVENS, Jr., knew that these two women knew Mrs. POTTER; that they were unprincipled. He discovered that Mrs. WALSH had been connected with a murder—the murder of Mrs. ADAMS—and learned that these people were unprincipled and ready to swear to anything for pay, and by the bribery and corruption of the one, Mrs. MASSEY, and through the terrors and fear of the other, he had two ready tools, whom he has used as I will now tell you. As I said, the cause was about being reached, and would soon be tried, when Mrs. WALSH and Mrs. MASSEY made an affidavit stating that Mrs. POTTER had told them, had boasted to them, that she had committed adultery with STRONG. Beyond this they said little that was evidence. The defendant, who had been living all this time concealed out of the city for nearly a year, and was still—who was unable to swear to her own innocence—makes an affidavit swearing positively that that charge was true, although it is apparent she has no knowledge on the subject; states in fact or how she knows it, and is careless that she swears he committed adultery with Mrs. POTTER one year before he knew her, as the evidence will conclusively show. And it is the tender conscience that cannot swear to her own innocence, but can swear that her husband has committed adultery at a time that he had never heard or seen such person, and that on her own knowledge and not on information and belief. The defence took Mrs. MASSEY, supplied her with money, took her to Earle's Hotel on the 26th of January, gave her good rooms and abundant credit at the bar; drinking, cigars and hack hire. They lived in clover there, and they ought to. They went there under an assumed name—Montague or Jones. Detectives, of whom this court-room is full, were sent there to board and keep our papers from being served; and they succeeded. They have lived there ever since. It soon became expensive, and carriages were debarred from the lovely MASSEY; is now, however, all right, and she rides daily on the Central Park. It is not customary to spend several thousand dollars on a witness but they did great service. Mr. Strong was compelled by their affidavits to appear in a criminal court. He did so, and clamored for a trial, but couldn't get it, until finally the District-Attorney opened his eyes and pledged his word, which he always keeps, that the cause should be tried in October. The case came on and my client went out of court acquitted—they never expected nor meant to try it. They simply intended to terrify him. We then tried to bring this case before the court and jury, and they have from time to time had it put off on frivolous pretexts. The charge of adultery against Mr. PETER STRONG rests upon the evidence of these infamous bribed creatures, whose testimony will be proven false, clear as day. Now, this MASSEY called at my office and offered to sell a letter from JOHN AUSTIN STEVENS, Jr., written in 1865, as follows:

NEW-YORK, Jan. 26, 1865.

DEAR SIR: The bearer, Mr. MASSEY and lady, are the persons for whom I engaged rooms this afternoon when I saw you with Mr. McKeon. Pray take the best oare of them, and oblige. Truly yours,

JOHN AUSTIN STEVENS, JR.

Mr. EARL, Canal and Centre.

He called later and offered to swear that STEVENS had paid him and his wife over $3,000; had kept him at the bar, cigars and carriages whenever he wanted them. If he wanted money he got it at the bar, and his bill for a month was $800—$300 for carriages and $250 for bar account. He said he was disgusted; they weren't half as liberal as formerly, and he thought he should quit, and that if I would pay him he would swear to these facts. He called again. He said the bar was short and meagre, he couldn't get money any more, and wasn't satisfied with the hotel; he wanted to go to the Fifth-avenue Hotel, and I advised him to go. He refused to be subpenaed, but we hope to get him here. There appeared another witness in March last, who swore that Mr. STRONG continued his course of adultery during the progress of this suit. ALBERT JONES is the name of this person, whom we can never find. I have called your attention to the desperate character of the defence, marked by two traits—its lavish expenditure of money and corrupt means to manipulate testimony. Some of this we shall show. Second—By their disposition to make assaults upon the plaintiff, and to make the inquiry as painful as possible, and to drag him down even without doing good to defendant, they have made this inquiry necessary. We are prepared in this investigation, from the history of the past, to expect much false testimony; but as I have said repeatedly, we do not fear it; we know the plaintiff's innocence of the charge, and knowing that the charge is false we feel secure—entirely secure. It is proper to say a word of the history and character of the plaintiff; in the past it is without stain or blemish; no one can with truth say aught against him either as a single or married man. This suit is a painful inquiry. The performance of my duty is a painful one, I come here taking in each hand a little child seeking to obtain security for their future. In the performance of that duty I may inflict sorrow upon many, but even for this unhappy woman I desire to use no unnecessary harsh word, and for all those who stand around this household wreck I have nothing but feelings of the most tender compassion and consideration, always excepting JOHN AUSTIN STEVENS, Jr. I would not say one word or do one act to-day to add to the sorrow of those who are suffering from these events, but I must, even if it inflict pain, discharge my duty to these little girls in trying what is, as I repeat again and again, the real issue here. Shall they be given to their father or their mother? for one or the other must have them, and you are to be the arbiters; for that this unfortunate man can ever live again with that unhappy woman, is an impossibility, and to one or the other you must give these children. The interests of this plaintiff and this defendant, great as they are to them, are insignificant, not worth speaking of, thinking about, compared with the momentous issue to these little girls. Shall they go to an unstained father, free from this infamous, false charge, or shall they go to their guilty mother, to be covered as with a pall for all time, with the black cloak of her disgrace around them?

The address was frequently interrupted by indications of applause, which were promptly suppressed by the officers of the court.

At the close of Mr. CRAM'S address, Judge GARVIN stated that he should be unable to sit much longer, and suggested that as several depositions were to be read, he would take them home, adjourning the case until next Monday.

Mr. MCKEON—Your Honor will find the depositions with the clerk, in whose hands and custody they remain. I have examined them in his presence, for I have not character enough to take them away. You will find on the margin certain pencilings, made by I know not whom—certainly not by us—and we trust your Honor will carefully note them.

Mr. CRAM—I suppose that is intended as an insinuation that we made them. The gentleman is not manly enough to make his charges bluntly, and is always cowardly enough to insinuate them. It is his way. I've met him before.

Mr. MCKEON (very excitedly)—If this sort of thing is continued I shall see to it that it meets its punishment on the spot. The defendant has already insulted me by calling me a liar to my face, [Mr. STRONG bowed assent,] and now I am to be told I am a coward.

Judge GARVIN—The counsel are gentlemen of sufficient character to know that this is improper, and I trust it will not be repeated. The court will stand adjourned until Monday at 11 o'clock.

The Prison Association of New-York.

A regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the New-York Prison Association was held on Wednesday evening, Prof. THEO. W. DWIGHT in the chair.

Some interesting statements were submitted by Mr. ABRAHAM BEAL, on behalf of the Committees on Detention and Discharged Convicts, of the operations in those departments; from which it appeared that 500 persons confined in the prisons of New-York and Brooklyn, had been visited and admonished or encouraged, as their several cases appeared to demand; 43 complaints were examined, of which 22 were withdrawn by advice of Mr. BEAL, General Agent, and 13 prisoners were discharged on his recommendation. Over 100 discharged prisoners have received pecuniary aid, and 17 discharged convicts have been provided with suitable situations.

Rev. Dr. WINES, Corresponding Secretary, made some interesting statements in regard to the prison discipline in various States. He also presented a report on the charges of cruel treatment to a prisoner in Sing Sing, made anonymously in the public press. The Hon. J. W. EDMONDS was appointed to investigate the matter, and after a thorough examination found that the charges were utterly false.

The committee then adjourned.

STEALING A TRUNK.

On the complaint of ELIZABETH FLEMMING, of No. 11 Carroll-place, a man named HARRY CLARKE was arrested yesterday, charged with having stolen a trunk containing wearing apparel valued at $210, under the following circumstances: It appears that Mrs. FLEMMING was moving on the 18th inst. to her present residence, and employed a lad named MCKINNY to carry a trunk there for her. MCKINNY got the assistance of another boy and proceeded toward the place as instructed. Losing his way, however, he sought information from two men he met on the corner of Laurens and Bleecker streets, and in reply they told him to stay there, and probably the woman (Mrs. FLEMMING) would join him. Waiting there a short time, the prisoner, HARRY CLARKE, came forward and told him to go to his house in Thompson-street for another trunk, he remaining with this one till he returned. On going to Thompson-street to the number named, he was told there was no trunk there, and on his return to the place he had left CLARKE, found that he and the trunk had both disappeared. Searching for her property, Mrs. FLEMMING met a man named BARNEY AARON, who told her that he thought he knew where the trunk was, and that it might be had from CLARKE, in whose possession it then was, for $30. She gave the $30 to AARON, who procured her the trunk and its contents. She then made the complaint leading to the arrest of the prisoner. HARRY CLARKE, who is 31 years of age, and a native of Ireland, residing at No. 189 Laurens-street, where he kept a liquor-store, stated in his defence that a man left the trunk in his place for BARNEY AARON, and that AARON came there about four hours after and took it away. The prisoner was committed without bail.

ATTEMPTED HIGHWAY ROBBERY—ARREST OF THE ROBBERS.

Officers MCAULIFFE and DONCOURT, when on duty yesterday morning, about half-past two o'clock, in the Sixteenth Precinct, heard the cry of "watch," they being then between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, in Eighth-avenue. On running to the place whence the cry proceeded, they arrested two young men named PETER MULLIGAN and HENRY HAGAN, who were standing over Mr. JAMES MONROE, who resides at No. 229 West Fourteenth-street. While on his way home it appears that Mr. MONROE was attacked by the prisoners from behind, a handkerchief being placed by one of them (HAGAN) with great force upon his mouth, the handkerchief being saturated with chloroform. Supposing they had succeeded in stupefying him, the other one (MULLIGAN) proceeded to strip off Mr. MONROE'S outer clothing, who finding himself overpowered, and, as he believes, his life in danger, gave the despairing cry for help which luckily reached the hearing of the police. On the identification of the prisoners by Mr. MONROE, they were committed to prison for trial without bail.

THE CONFIDENCE GAME.

A man 37 years of age named HAVEMEYER EDSALL, known to our police as an accomplished adept in "games of confidence," was arrested yesterday by Detectives COYLE and BENNETT, on a charge of false pretences preferred against him by Mr. HENRY HUTCHINSON, doing business at No. 58 Eighth-avenue. On the 8th inst., it appears that EDSALL called upon Mr. HUTCHINSON, and falsely representing himself to be Mr. E. CORNING, son of HON. ERASTUS CORNING, Superintendent of New-York Central Railroad Company, said he was the Assistant Superintendent on the same road, and ordered clothing to the value of $44, and directed them to be sent to his hotel, corner of Broadway and Sixth-avenue, where they were duly forwarded. EDSALL, at the time of ordering the clothes, asked Mr. HUTCHINSON for $20, giving him an order for that sum on Mr. SAMUEL OGDEN, No. 780 Wall-st. On inquiry, no such person as Mr. OGDEN could be found at this address, and Mr. HUTCHINSON discovered himself to be swindled out of both clothes and cash. EDSALL was committed for examination in default of bail.

.....JOSIAS GIBSON, 30 years of age, residing at No. 175 East Twenty-second-street, was arrested by Officer HARRIS, of the Eighteenth Precinct, on the complaint of MARSHALL E. CLEMENT, receiving te ler of the Metropolitan Savings Bank, in Third-avenue, that on the 8th inst., he (GIBSON) had called at the bank and opened an account there, depositing at the time a check for $460 on the National Second Ward Bank, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, signed by S. P. GIBSON. Shortly afterward GIBSON drew against his deposit the sum of $15. The check in the meantime being sent to Milwaukee, was returned with the information that no such man as GIBSON was known there. Hence the charge and arrest of the accused. He was committed for trial.

Essex Market—Before Justice Mansfield.

BURGLARY.

The liquor-store of ANTHONY HAETMANN, No. 81 Avenue D, during the last three or four weeks has been several times forced open during the night and robbed. Officer BERRY, of the Eleventh Precinct, was instructed to be on the lookout for any further attempt on the premises, and on Thursday night he caught MICHAEL HEIN, a German, breaking his way in by a rear window. He took him before Justice MANSFIELD, where, pleading guilty, he was committed for trial. He resided at No. 253 Third-street.

ALLEGED MURDER.

JAMES HAMMOND was brought into court by Roundsman SEYMOUR and Officer HEY, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, on a warrant issued by Coroner COLLIN, charged by the verdict of the Coroner's jury of having caused the death of JOHN S. ROSS, late of No. 381 Greenwich-street, who died from the effec s of injuries received at the hands of the prisoner, in a row between them, which took place at the Northern Hotel, foot of Cortlandt-street, some time ago. HAMMOND was arrested immediately after the fight, but was discharged by Justice HOGAN, at that time Mr. Ross not being supposed to be in a dangerous condition. On receiving his discharge, accused left this city for Salem, Mass., to pay a visit to his mother, and, returning to his business here, not having heard of the death of Mr. ROSS, or that a warrant had been issued for him, he was arrested. Coroner COLLIN committed him to await the action of the Grand Jury.

ALLEGED SHOPLIFTING.

MARY BRADLEY, a pleasing-looking young workwoman, living at No. 201 Claremont-avenue, Brooklyn, was charged with entering the store of CHARLES T. TERRY, No. 447 Broadway, and stealing a quantity of ribbons therefrom. MARY, on entering, asked to see some ribbons. One of the clerks, Mr. CURTIS, having previously been instructed with regard to suspicious looking persons, and thinking MARY one of these, retired to an inner office, and through holes in the door thereof, saw the prisoner, in the absence of the salesman, from whom she had made a trifling purchase, secrete some rolls of ribbon, of the value of $36. Officer MCARTHUR, of the Broadway squad, being called in, found the property on the person of the woman, andon her being taken before Justice DOWLING, she was duly committed for trial.

The Tombs—Before Justice Dowling.

PROMPT PUNISHMENT FOR CARRYING DEADLY WEAPONS.

Yesterday there was quite an assortment of pistols, knives, slung-shots, &c., taken from the persons of prisoners, who, on the night previous, were arrested for using or threatening to use the same.... Officer CLINE, of the Fourth Precinct, arrested a man named HUGH CUNNINGHAM, who at the time was quite drunk, and had in his hands a large and heavily loaded Colt's revolver, with which he was threatening to take away the life of the passers-by. Committed, and sent to Blackwell's Island for six months in default of $1,000 bail....JAMES HARRINGTON was charged by KATE CLARK, of No. 128 Greenwich-street, with being grossly intoxicated, and in that State threatening to shoot her with a revolver which he had concealed upon him. Officer MORAN, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, made the arrest. HARRINGTON, in default of $1,000 bail, was sent to the penitentiary for six months....JAMES GRAHAM, claiming to be a merchant, while in a state of intoxication at the Howard Hotel, drew a revolver from his pocket, discharging one barrel of it, thus endangering the lives of the bystanders. GRAHAM was arrested by Officer Ross, of the Second Precinct, and unable to find bail in $1,000, he was sen. to the Island for six months. ....JOSEPH FLANIGAN was arrested in Cherry-street by Officer MOFFAT, of the Fourth Precinct, on Tuesday night. When arrested he was much intoxicated, and in one of his pockets was concealed a large butcher's knife, with which he afterward threatened to strike the officer. FLANIGAN, unable to procure bail in $1,000, was sent to Blackwell's Island for six months....Officer JOLLY, of the Fourteenth Precinct, arrested RICHARD ENRIGHT, in the Revere House, on Thursday night, on the charge of having assaulted Mr. NILES F. SMITH, proprietor of the hotel. It appears Mr. SMITH received a blow in the face from ENRIGHT, who further threatened to shoot him with a Derringer pistol he had in his hand, and which he thrust in the face of Mr. SMITH. The prisoner was committed for trial in default of $1,000 bail....JOHN CONNELL, living at No. 11 Albany-street, a boatman, was arrested by Officer MORAN, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, in the attempt to strike a man with a deadly-looking slung-shot. He was committed to the Tombs for trial....After the disposal of the above cases, numerous ward politicians and others appeared to intercede for the prisoners, but Justice DOWLING, determined to put an end to the carrying of deadly weapons upon the person, could not be wheedled into leniency, preferring to protect the lives of peaceful citizens to letting loose again without punishment these public enemies.

FIVE POINTS' HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.—The trustees of this deserving charity make their usual Thanksgiving appeal for aid. The trustees call attention to the fact that 1,284 women and children have been received and dismissed from the house to situations and friends, during the year ending the 1st of October; 1,633 children were taught in the schools; 233,430 meals have been given to the poor, mostly to children. A family of nearly 200 are constantly maintained in the house. To prevent suffering among the multitudes that throng to them, to feed the hungry, and clothe so many hundreds of children, the trustees ask all to contribute, though the amount be ever so small. Donations should be sent to S. B. HALLIDAY, Superintendent, No. 155 Worth-street.

Naval Intelligence.

OUR MEDITERRANEAN SQUADRON.

The steam frigate Colorado, the Frolic, her tender, and the sloop-of-war Kearsarge, are still cruising in French waters. The Navy Department has ordered our vessels not to proceed further up the Mediterranean, as the cholera is still prevalent in most of the ports. It is not definitely known where the squadron will Winter, but it is rumored that Lisbon is the port selected. The officers of the Colorado complain of discourteous treatment received from the naval authorities at Brest. At an entertainment given by the officers of our squadron to the officers of the Russian gunboat Askold, our squadron was strongly invited to visit Russia during the next Summer. We have no doubt that the invitation will be accepted should the department approve it. We have now quite a respectable naval force in European waters, and it will soon be increased by the arrival of the sloops-of-war Shenandoah, Canandaigua and Ticonderoga. The vessels already there are the Colorado, Frolic, Kearsarge, Shawmut, National Guard and Ino.

LAW REPORTS.

A Counterfeiter Sentenced.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Shipman.

William Overton, Jr., who had pleaded guilty to a charge of making a plate for counterfeiting twenty-five cent stamps, was brought up for sentence.

The Judge, after remarking to Overton that his crime was one which would probably warrant the extreme penalty of the law, because the means of employment were abundant in this country, and he must have gone into the business from the hope of gain, and the crime was not one which was committed from any sudden impulse of temptation, but deliberately, for which reason little could be said in behalf of those who committed it, sentenced him to pay a fine of one dollar, and to be imprisoned at hard labor at Sing Sing for the period of seven years.

Exceptions to Report—Rule of Damages.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Benedict.

James C. Conner et al. vs. The Steamship Sarah Sands.—This case came up on the exceptions to a Commissioner's report. The action was brought on a bill of lading, to recover damages for the non-delivery at San Francisco of certain printing materials. The shipment was of forty-two packages, containing presses, type, &c. Three of the packages, viz.: a keg of glue, a keg of ink, and a box of type, were missing on the arrival of the steamer. The court made a decree in favor of the libelants, the damages to be "the difference between the value of the whole invoice at San Francisco on the arrival of the ship and the value of the invoice exclusive of the missing packages." The Commissioner reported in favor of the libelant $612 70, and the libelant excepted, claiming that he should have reported $8,832, the value of the whole shipment at San Francisco.

Held by the Court.—That the evidence would not have warranted the Commissioner in finding the whole value of the property as the damages. The rule laid down by the court threw upon the libelant, if he would recover the value of the whole shipment, the burden of proving that the thirty-nine packages landed were at that time and place, valueless, and the evidence does not go to that extent. That the exception made, that the Commissioner should have charged the ship with the freight, primage and insurance of the whole shipment, must also be overruled. The decree fixes the values at San Francisco as the standard, and thus excludes the freight and charges as items of damages. A carrier paying the value at the port of delivery, is entitled to his freight. Exceptions overruled.

For libelant, Mr. Sanxay; for respondent, Mr. Owen.

What it Costs to Call a Man a Thief.

MARINE COURT.

Before Judge Alker and a Jury.

Clamins vs. Town.—This was an action of slander, damages laid at $500. From the opening of C. S. Spencer, Esq., plaintiff's counsel, it appeared that the plaintiff was a bar-tender for Mr. Fangado, who kept a liquo -store in West-street, in this city. While there the defendant, in June last, came in and asked him if he had paid that money over to his employer he had left with him, to which the plaintiff replied that he had received no money from him, (the defendant,) whereupon the defendant charged him with stealing the money, calling him a thief, &c. In consequence of these allegations his employer discharged him. The plaintiff when put on the stand corroborated the statement of his counsel, and under oath denied ever having received any moneys from the defendant to give to his employer. Mr. McMahon, on the part of the defendant, stated that on the 3d of June, 1865, the defendant, a sail-maker, borrowed of Mr. Fangado $20, to be returned to him in two hours. Being about to go out of town at the time appointed, the defendant came into the store of Fangado, and not finding him in, gave the money to the plaintiff to hand to his employer, in payment of his loan. On the 8th day of June following, Mr. Fangado asked the defendant about that money, and he said: "I gave the money to Dick," meaning the plaintiff. Fangado denied that the plaintiff had given it to him, whereupon defendant took him in and confronted plaintiff, who, after some hesitation, denied having received the money; whereupon the defendant said to him: "If you have not paid over that money to Augustus, (meaning Fangado,) you have put it in your pocket and stolen the money." The defendant, when put on the stand, corroborated this statement, and swore that he gave the plaintiff the money to give to his employer. Mr. Fangado was sworn, and testified that he had intended to discharge the plaintiff before this occurrence, and did not do so on account of this difficulty. Another witness was sworn, who testified that he saw Town in Fangado's store that day, talking with a sea Captain, and flourishing in his hand a greenback, but could not recollect anything further. The plaintiff introduced another witness, who testified that the words used were these: "If he (plaintiff) had not paid the man in the liquor-store the money he (defendant) had let him have, he (plaintiff) was a thief."

After an impartial charge from Judge ALKER, the jury went out, and came in after several hours, with a verdict for plaintiff of six cents.

C. S. Spencer for plaintiff; D. McMahon for defendant.

FAMILY MARKETING.

Current Retail Prices at the Principal Markets.

FRIDAY, Nov. 17, 1865.

The following table, revised weekly, will be found to contain correct quotations of the retail prices of all the principal articles of food, &c., at Washington and Fulton Markets, and is given as a guide to purchasers there, or from outside dealers. The prices of inferior goods are not quoted, our outside figures being for the best qualities of their kind in the market.

With the exception of Mutton and Poultry, which have advanced to about the rates of the week previous, and Coal, which has fallen considerably, our market has undergone but trifling change this week. A further decline in Coal is looked for.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

GENERAL NEWS.

Later news from Matamoras states that the Liberals are in force eight miles from that city, and an unimportant skirmish had taken place, in which one Imperialist was killed and three taken prisoners. The battle of the kegs, ludicrously famous in our Revolutionary war, was paralleled recently on the Rio Grande, when the Imperialist gunboats did heroic warfare for some time upon some barges laden with wood, which had broken away and were floating down the stream. The innocent barges were mistaken for iron-clads; one of them had her rudder shot away. The dispatch says that "highly important communications had passed between the Imperial commander of the fleet and the Federal commander at Brownsville, which will cause considerable excitement in official circles." An official order was issued by MEJIA prohibiting any one from crossing from the American side, or vice versa. Upon the receipt of information that there was firing upon Antonio from the Texas side, the French Commodore dispatched a vessel to Vera Cruz with the particulars of the occurrence, and it is reported that a swift vessel will be dispatched to France for reinforcements. A gentleman lately from Matamoras says that the rebel force is much scattered, and the streets of the city have been fortified with earthworks. He also states that two flatboats came down on the night of the 14th and attacked the Imperialists' gunboats, which succeeded in sinking both. Many of the Liberals were killed and drowned, and some captured. (Probably untrue.) The Matamoras Ranchero, of the 10th, says: "Despite the report to the contrary, there is not the slightest apprehension of another attack on the city."

A letter to the Galveston-Houston News, dated Austin, Nov. 4, says Gen. WRIGHT arrived there on the evening of the 2d inst. Gen. CUSTER, with his command of three regiments of cavalry, would soon arrive. This is understood to be the base of operations for the defence of the frontier counties. Another letter to the same paper, dated at Galveston on the 8th of November, mentions the arrival of the United States transport Elliot, which left Brazos Santiago on the 26th ult., and had a stormy passage, narrowly escaping destruction; and adds that important dispatches were brought from Gen. WEITZEL to Gen. WRIGHT, in relation to the United States troops, consisting of regiments stationed at old Fort Brown, being fired into while fighting was going on between the Imperialists and Liberals in Matamoras, from one of the Imperial gunboats in the river.

In a recent message to the Mississippi Legislature, Gov. HUMPHREY recommends that negro testimony be admitted into the courts; that the freedmen be encouraged to work, and that they be assured of protection from the State in working for themselves and their families; that a tax be imposed upon them for the support of helpless freedmen; that the vagrants be forced to engage in some profitable employment to support themselves, and that a militia law be passed enabling the militia to protect the people of the State against vagrant negroes and white men.

Ex-Gov. MAGRATH, of South Carolina, from his place of confinement in Fort Pulaski, has issued an urgent appeal for release. Mr. MAGRATH was also Judge of a United States Court when the rebellion broke out, and resigned at that time. He wishes to know what crime more than others he has committed against the government for which he should still be kept under lock when every other rebel Governor and Judge is at large. He is willing to give the best security for future loyalty, and "to aid in carrying out the policy of the government."

The rebel ram Stonewall arrived yesterday evening at the Washington Navy-yard. On the voyage from Havana, a coal schooner, with apparent design, ran across her bows, near Smith's Point, Chesapeake Bay, and was instantly sunk. The Farragut naval court-martial, which is engaged in trying Commodore CRAVEN for failure to attack the Stonewall in the harbor of Ferrol, will to-day embark in the vessel for the purpose of testing her sailing qualities.

A military commission is said to be ordered for the investigation of the enlistment of Prussian subjects by the State of Massachusetts during the war, with power to sit in this city and in Boston, to accommodate the Prussian Minister and the officials of Massachusetts respectively. It is understood that the Prussian Government has demanded some explanation.

A later report from Montgomery, Alabama, states that Gov. PARSONS does not oppose the special code for the government of negroes, as erroneously reported yesterday, but he recommends the adoption of vagrant laws, to be used upon the whites and blacks alike, and suggests that vagrant laws similar to those in force in the State of Massachusetts be adopted.

A great manufactory of steel is soon to be established two miles below Harrisburgh, Penn., on the Susquehanna River. A thousand skilled workmen are to be brought from England, and fifteen hundred others will be gathered in this country. The establishment will be much the largest on this continent.

The schooner Antietam, of Harrington, from Calais, for Washington, was abandoned Nov. 23, fifty miles from Cape Ann, being in a sinking condition and dismasted from the effects of a gale. Capt. CHANDLER was lost overboard and drowned. The crew were saved and taken to Boston.

The steamer Deer-Lodge, from St. Louis for Omaha, with a valuable cargo, sunk twelve miles below St. Joseph on Monday. It is supposed that the boat and cargo will prove a total loss. The boat was valued at $60,000, and insured for $40,000.

Col. EDWARD M. LEE, late of the Michigan Cavalry Brigade, (Fifth Michigan Cavalry,) has been brevetted Brigadier-General of volunteers, for gallant and meritorious services during the war, to date from April 9, 1865.

Those who love peanuts will be sorry to learn that instead of 140,000 bushels per annum—the regular product before the war in North Carolina—there will be only about 15,000 bushels to export from that State this year.

The total amount of conscience money received at the Treasury Department for the year ending with June last, was $20,876. It was received in sums varying from 50 cents to $500.

KECHNER was yesterday hung at Buffalo for the murder of a soldier named HEANING, last September.

Gov. CURTIN, of Pennsylvania, is going to Cuba for relaxation and to improve his health, which has been impaired by close application to official duties.

It is reported that nearly every negro arrested in New-Orleans is found to be in possession of some unlawful weapon.

The New-York Canal Commissioners have resolved to close the canals on the 12th of December next.

LOCAL NEWS.

The parade of the First Division, New-York State National Guard, yesterday, in celebration of Evacuation Day, was a magnificent and imposing display of our city military. Fully ten thousand men were in line, and the appearance of the troops was very creditable to the respective commanders. The ceremonies of the day consisted of a review in Fourteenth-street, by Gov. FENTON, and a parade of the division through some of the principal thoroughfares up town, concluding with a marching salute to the Governor at the foot of the Worth Monument, at the intersection of Broadway with Fifth-avenue. The day was peculiarly adapted for the display, and the city was gaily decorated.

The committees appointed by the General Term of the Supreme Court to examine applicants for admission to the bar, yesterday made their reports. The Examining Committee reported favorably upon about forty of those who have composed the class. The Committee on Character concurring, the fortunate gentlemen yesterday appeared in open court, took the oath of office, and received their "sheepskins." Henceforth they will take their positions as members of the bar. The examination this term has been very careful and thorough.

The General Term of the Supreme Court have granted a new trial in the case of ROGER LAMB, who was convicted, at the last March term of the Court of General Sessions, held by City Judge RUSSEL, of having murdered his wife by stabbing her in the neck with a knife on the 11th of February last. He was sentenced to be hanged on the 5th of May ensuing, but meantime his counsel obtained a stay of proceedings, and took the case to the General Term. The case was argued at the September term, and yesterday the court rendered its decision.

Previous to the grand parade of the National Guard yesterday, the Eighth Regiment proceeded up Fifth-avenue to the residence of CHAS. A. SECOR, Esq., where the command tendered to Mrs. SECOR the colors presented by that lady to the regiment in 1861, previous to their departure for the seat of war. After the usual speeches and complimentary toasts, the regiment returned to Union-square, bearing with them the colors, as Mrs. SECOR wished them to retain it in their keeping.

Mr. JAMES MONROE, of No. 229 West Fourteenth-street, was stopped about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning in Eighth-avenue, near Eighteenth-street, by PETER MULLIGAN and HENRY HOGAN, who threw him down and endeavored to strip him of his outer clothing, at the same time applying a handkerchief saturated with chloroform to his nose. Mr. MONROE called for help, and Officers MCAULIFFE and DONCOURT, of the Sixteenth Precinct, came up and arrested the robbers.

No new facts of importance have come to light in the late case of murder in Brooklyn, with the exception that a friend of the prisoner has identified the gloves found in the City Park as having been purchased for the prisoner. The inquest on the body of ORTEGA will take place at 11 A. M. to-day.

HAVEMEYER ESDALL, a well-known "confidence man," was arrested yesterday on a charge of swindling Mr. HENRY HUTCHINSON out of about $60, by representing himself to be the son of Hon. ERASTUS CORNING.

In yesterday's TIMES it was stated that ANTHONY MILLER had been nominated as School Commissioner for the Fourth District. This is incorrect Mr. JAMES L. MILLER is the nominee.

The second day's proceedings in the Strong divorce case were witnessed by a great crowd of people. Mr. CHAM opened for the plaintiff, speaking over three hours.

The Union City Convention last evening nominated MARSHAL O. ROBERTS for Mayor, and Ex-Judge MURRAY HOFFMAN for Corporation Counsel.

Business in Produce and Merchandise exhibited more animation in the leading branches yesterday, but prices continued quite irregular. Flour was firmer. Pork and Whisky cheaper. Cotton steady. Petroleum advancing. The freight engagements were moderate, chiefly in the line of Cotton and Corn shipments for British ports.

Gold and Foreign Exchange were ½@¾ per cent. lower yesterday than on Thursday. Money 2 per cent. on call. The Railway Speculation active and higher in the morning, but lower at the close of the day.

Nominations for Mayor.

The Union Convention has nominated MARSHAL O. ROBERTS for Mayor, and MURRAY HOFFMAN for Corporation Counsel. Both these nominations are admirable. Both the nominees are men of ability, integrity, experience, and unquestioned loyalty. As all the Democratic factions, together with the Citizens' Association, have nominated Mr. O'GORMAN for Corporation Counsel, the chances for this office are decidedly against Mr. MURRAY HOFFMAN. But Mr. ROBERTS is quite as likely to be elected Mayor as any other candidate, and, under existing circumstances, a good deal more so.

There is one consideration entitled to great weight in connection with this election. We need additional legislation to render the office of Mayor of the slightest consequence, so far as city reform is concerned. The office at present is stripped of power and authority. The shameful way in which its functions were abused during the reign of FERNANDO WOOD, made it absolutely necessary for the Legislature to interpose. In proper hands, it would be quite safe and absolutely expedient to restore to the Mayor all the power he once possessed. Both branches of the Legislature are in the hands of the Union party by an overwhelming majority:—and it is quite certain, therefore, that with a Union Mayor we might secure legislation which should restore to the office all its former authority, and thus enable the Mayor to accomplish all that is required for the security of the public interests and the promotion of the public good. With a Democratic Mayor, this could not be expected. However desirable it might be, the Union Legislature could not place increased authority in hands certain to use it against them.

Mr. HECKER especially could not possibly command the confidence requisite for such a result. He is the nominee of Mozart Hall, and has always been, not only a Democrat but a "Copperhead." His sympathies have been wholly and exclusively with the rebellion. He has rejoiced openly in defeats of the Union armies and ostentatiously indorsed Mayor GUNTHER'S veto of a proposed illumination in honor of Union victories. He has declared slavery to be a divine institution and insisted upon its maintenance as at once just and essential to the public welfare. The people of this State will not intrust power to the hands of such men. There is no office within the gift of the people for which open disloyalty is not, and will not for years continue to be, an absolute disqualification. If Mr. HECKER, therefore, were to be elected Mayor, he could not possibly secure from the Legislature the increase of power essential to the promotion of City Reform.

To a less extent, perhaps, but still very decidedly, is the same thing true of JOHN T. HOFFMAN. While his personal integrity would command respect, there is nothing in his party position to induce the Legislature to increase his power. With equal advantages in point of character and position, MARSHAL O. ROBERTS has the additional advantage of being thoroughly trusted and relied on by the State Government. He is a business man of energy, enterprise and unquestioned integrity. He has had experience in public life—is independent of all cliques, and has rendered the government essential service during the war. As an executive officer he has no superior. And being in harmony, politically, with the majority in both branches of the Legislature, his election would be the signal for such legislation as would enable him to contribute largely to that reform in the administration of city affairs, which we need so much.

We commend these considerations to those who deem the welfare of the city and the upright conduct of the city government, paramount to all party interests and prejudices.

President Johnson and the New Congress.

The President is required by the constitution to give to Congress "information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient." This duty has never been so momentous as it will be on the occasion of the opening of the new Congress, now near at hand. As a consequence of rebellion, a part of the Union is in the most abnormal relation to the Federal Government. It is under a military rule, mild, to be sure, in its administration yet utterly at variance with every principle of our republican system. The great problem is how to terminate this, and revive the regular operation of the constitution consistently with future security, and with the obligations devolved by the war. It is the official duty of the President to gather all the data that bear upon this problem, and to work out the best conclusions he can in regard to it. This he has done, and the result will be seen in the information and recommendations he will submit to Congress in his coming message.

Of course we do not hold that these recommendations should be implicitly accepted. They should receive the "consideration" which the constitution indicates, and should be decided upon by each representative as his sense of public duty dictates. All that we claim is that the statements and the judgments of the President in regard to this work of restoration ought to weigh very heavily with Congress, and should prevail, unless there are most potent reasons for the contrary.

It is unquestionable that the President has had better opportunities than anybody else to get a correct understanding of the practical elements of the problem. Since the close of the rebellion a considerable portion of his time has been occupied in personal interviews with thousands of the more important men of the South. These men have been of all kinds of political antecedents, and have had every sort of relation to the rebellion from the most devoted adherence to the most implacable hostility. There is not a shade, even the slightest, of Southern feeling, which the President has not seen the type of; and by this means alone he could hardly have failed to form an absolutely correct idea of the prevailing spirit and purpose. But, more than all that, he has been in constant communication with the Provisional Governors of the Southern States, and with the commanders of the military departments, and from them has been able to acquire a knowledge of every aspect and tendency. Yet further, as if to "make assurance doubly sure," he has despatched special agents—men selected for their clear and close observation—to scrutinize, and report to him. Surely no member of Congress can claim that he has had any such facilities for obtaining a correct knowledge of the condition and feeling of the South. No one can have "information" worthy for an instant to be set against that upon which the President has formed his conclusions.

So far as the facts are concerned, the President's statements will be accepted by all reasonable men as sure, and hardly open to discussion. In respect to his principles, there may be a wider latitude for judgment. There doubtless will be those who will claim that the Southern people have a right to return at once without conditions to a full participation of all the benefits of the constitution. Their doctrine will be that the war being closed, ipso facto, military government ceases and civil rule returns. Others may still nurse the theory that the late insurrectionary States have absolutely forfeited their organic existence as members of the Union, and ought not to be treated otherwise than as Territories. There may be those, too, who agree with the President in recognizing neither of these theories, and yet think that other requirements should have been made upon the Southern States than those he actually has made. Allowances can easily be made for all this variety of doctrine. But mere doctrine has or ought to have but a very minor part in the accomplishment of this work of restoration. The great care now is not to save any particular political theories, but to realize the substantial blessings of right government. If President JOHNSON has it in his power to show that the Southern people have resumed their allegiance in good faith, and have practically adapted themselves to all its legitimate consequences, no mere variance in theory should hinder the policy of an early readmission. No abstract doctrine, on the other hand, should avail to restore to the South powers it would not loyally use. The great question is whether there is a settled and consistent purpose to accept and make the best of the practical results of the national triumph.

We have no apprehension that the matured views presented by the President in his message will not commend themselves to the sound judgment of both branches of Congress, and have all the moral effect to which his superior advantages of position will entitle them. It is certain that the loyal millions of the North will greatly defer to them, and will not approve any opposition that is not sustained by the most cogent reasons. The people have the strongest kind of confidence in the patriotic devotion and the practical wisdom of President JOHNSON. His policy, as already understood, has their most decided approbation. There is every reason to believe that, as more specifically set forth in his message, it will receive their hearty concurrence. It will in like manner, we are confident, receive the full assent of their representatives—utterly disappointing the malign calculations of any Democratic politicians that there is to be a breach, or at least a disjunction, between the great Union majority in Congress and the President.

The Mayoralty.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

The New-York TIMES—just the day before the assembling of the Union Mayoralty Convention—asserts for the first time that Mr. HECKER is no Republican—voted for MCCLELLAN and SEYMOUR last Fall, &c. We do not know how he voted last Fall, but he surely was a Free-Soiler and Land Reformer in earlier years, and we presumed was still so. But this—as we said some days since—has no relevancy to the issue now pending.

The TIMES had no occasion to speak of Mr. HECKER'S disloyalty until the Tribune attempted to palm him upon our party as a Republican. We, of course, could do no less than expose that false pretence. The electors have a right, even had no attempt been made to impose upon them, to inquire into the political status of a nominee for Mayor. "This," whatever the Tribune thinks, "has relevancy to the issue now pending." The wail of a bereaved nation for its dead is heard everywhere. The maimed for life present themselves at every turning. In these ways and in other ways we are constantly reminded of the cost of rebellion. And yet, with all these sad reminders, the Tribune says that Union electors must not inquire whether the candidates for whom it begs them to vote were loyal or disloyal!

If, in all the Tribune taught, before and during the rebellion, there was justice, truth and sincerity, the question whether Messrs. HECKER and O'GORMAN were "Copperheads," is relevant. That Mr. O'GORMAN was, is proven by his "Record," from which we have furnished extracts. That Mr. HECKER was, is known to many of our citizens, and virtually admitted by the Tribune.

Before sorrowing relatives have laid aside their sables—while indeed our streets and households are darkened with these sad habiliments; before the wounds of our sons and brothers have had time to heal, prominent men, whose voices were heard in denunciation of Mr. LINCOLN, and whose votes were cast for the candidates of an inglorious "peace" and a divided Union, are urged upon Union electors by a leading Republican journal! Yes, strange as it must appear, with all the inhabitants of this great metropolis from which to select, the Tribune goes, from choice, for "Copperheads"—for men who, in our four years' struggle for national life, were, in sentiment, sympathy and action, with our enemies!

The excuse for this abnegation of all that is patriotic and consistent, is, that Messrs. HECKER and O'GORMAN are "holier" than Republicans! And be it remembered that the Tribune's model Mayor and Corporation Counsel are the nominees of FERNANDO WOOD. In zeal and devotion for the "Mozart" ticket, the Tribune out-herods the News.

ALABAMA TAKING COMMON-SENSE GROUND.—On Wednesday Gov. PARSONS, of Alabama, delivered his message to the State Legislature. He urges the adoption of the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States abolishing slavery. He asks for the passage of laws for the protection of the freed negroes and their property, and he approves of the adoption of vagrant laws, to be applied to idlers of the black and white races alike. These are surely sensible suggestions and recommendations. Their adoption by the Alabama Legislature—as Gov. PARSONS reasons—must greatly tend to facilitate the admission of the representatives of that State into Congress. It needs but that the States temporarily alienated should show that they are acting in good faith, in accordance with the President's programme of reconstruction, to insure for them a cordial welcome to their old places in the national councils. Gov. PARSONS appears to understand this fact sufficiently well to be able to give the State Legislature sound advice.

WALL-STREET.—The speculators in gold have had hard times for the last three months. During the first half of the current year, as during the two years preceding, they had very exciting times, and won or lost immense sums with lightning-like rapidity. The fluctuations were very great, the volume of business was great, and a great multitude of people "took a hand in the game." But for three months past, gold has been steady, with only now and then a fractional fluctuation, and the mob of outside operators have left the street in disgust, and taken to labor, which we hope is more productive—it certainly could not be more severe. We might give the same remarks a more extended application to other branches of speculation; for though there have been some violent movements in stocks, there is on the whole a much steadier and quieter state of things than existed up to Midsummer.

SOMEWHAT OVERDONE.—Isn't it about time that Evacuation Day was allowed to take its place in the ordinary calendar? Have we not celebrated it about long enough? There is not one man in twenty, in the city or out of it, who knows what is meant by it, and so many much more important events have happened since that it seems scarcely worth while to go through the annual farce of its celebration. These military displays, at best, have been sadly cast into the shade by the great and memorable deeds of the recent war, and no one looks now with any special admiration or awe upon their empty and pretentious pomp. The troops who are marched through our streets must feel abashed at the sight of the armless and legless veterans who have covered themselves and their country with glory, and we doubt not would gladly be relieved from this yearly farce.

NEWS FROM TEXAS.—We are always prepared to receive news from Texas of a more or less warlike character, however profound may be the reign of peace elsewhere on the continent. The latest bulletin is from Houston, under date of the 10th inst., and it positively announces that orders have been received from Washington not to muster out any more troops. This negative way of laying a belligerent notice before the world is a masterpiece of newspaper skill. There is so much left for the imagination to fill up—armies marching into Mexico in terrible array, and Western Europe challenged to dispute with us the right and title to each particular State and Province from Cape Breton to Yucatan! A little more respecting that terrible siege of Matamoras will now be in order.

FENIANISM.—The Fenian movement seems to be on the decline at present, both in Ireland and America. There is no excitement about the matter, and there are no signs of any action of any kind in any direction. Even Canada is being quieted, and the fear of insurrection or invasion is passing away. In the mass of English newspapers which we received by the last mail, the subject is hardly mentioned. The London Times has ceased indulging in either threats or ridicule about it, and the Irish papers treat it already as a thing of the past.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Nov. 24.

PREPARING FOR THE MEETING OF CONGRESS.

Hon. EDWARD MCPHERSON, Clerk of the House, has arrived and taken permanent quarters. He is busily engaged in arranging the preliminaries for the session, and under his direction the Representatives' hall has assumed a fresh and comfortable aspect. A new Brussels carpet of a tasteful pattern and in cheerful colors, has been laid on the floors of the main hall, while the diplomatic and ladies' galleries have also been handsomely refurnished.

THE NEW-YORK COLLECTORSHIP.

The President is receiving a great many letters from New-York, urging the appointment of a successor to the late Hon. PRESTON KING in the New-York Customhouse. It is not likely that the appointment will be made for ten days or two weeks to come. There are few, if any, personal calls upon the President with reference to this Collectorship.

ESTIMATES OF EXPENDITURE.

Heretofore it has been customary for the heads of the several Departments, in making their estimates of expenditures for the remainder of the current and the whole full fiscal year ensuing, to allow liberty for unexpended balances. THE PIRATE SHENANDOAH.

The State Department received dispatches this morning from our Consul at Liverpool with reference to the surrender of the Shenandoah. The rebel pirate's application for pardon has not yet been received by the Attorney-General.

THE REBEL RAM STONEWALL.

Commander MURRAY, of the United States steamer Rhode Island, reports this morning the arrival of the rebel ram Stonewall at the Washington Navy-yard. The only incident of the voyage which he has to report is the sinking of a coal schooner, which ran across the bow of the ram off Smith's Point, in Chesapeake Bay. The night being dark, it may have been an accident; but to all appearances, the schooner, from some motive, purposely encountered her fate.

There was an unavoidable delay in bringing the Stonewall away from Havana, owing to a derangement of her machinery and the keeping of holidays by the Spanish officials, who extended to our officers many courtesies and unexpected civilities. The total amount paid to the Cuban authorities for the custody of the ram's ordnance, stores and provisions, was $18,064.

The Farragut Naval Court-martial, who are engaged in trying Commodore CRAVEN for failing to attack the Stonewall in the Harbor of Ferrol, will to-morrow embark on this ram for the purpose of testing her sailing qualities.

DISABLED NEW-YORK SOLDIERS.

Col. MORGAN, Superintendent of the New-York Soldiers' Agency, has been in Washington several days, and is consummating arrangements with the military authorities for the care of disabled New-York soldiers. It is contemplated to fit up at once the Ira Harris Hospital at Albany for temporary use as a soldiers' home.

WHERE THE REBEL MONEY WENT.

Major W. H. GIBBON, Quartermaster C. S. A., GEO. E. TAYLOR, Quartermaster C. S. A., and ROBERT HETH, private in rebel service, on breaking up of LEE'S army, were in Richmond, and had about $47,000 in gold belonging to the rebel government in their possession. After leaving Richmond, HETH, under orders from TAYLOR and GIBBON, buried about $20,000 of the amount near the Dan River, in North Carolina which they subsequently dug up and spent freely in and about Richmond. The facts becoming known to the government, TAYLOR and HETH, about two weeks ago were arrested in Richmond and brought to this city, and placed in the Old Capitol. It is supposed that nearly all the money has been spent by them, but the government has succeeded in obtaining possession of about $4,000 of it. The prisoners are still held to await further developments.

VACANCIES IN THE ARMY.

Many vacancies in the lower grades of the regular army, and among the field and company officers of the Veteran Reserve Corps, exist at the present time. The order heretofore issued by the War Department providing for the examining of applicants to fill the vacancies of the regular army is being executed, and an order has just been promulgated directing the regimental officers of the Veteran Reserve Corps to forward to the chief mustering officer of this department duplicate muster rolls and descriptive lists of all officers and men who elect to remain in that service. It is believed an order will be issued to recruit the Veteran Reserve Corps, and to resume the examination of candidates to fill existing vacancies. These measures will afford the means of providing for many ex-officers of volunteers of merit and ability, who are anxious to reënter the military service. It will be remembered that of what is called the regular army, the terms of nine regiments of infantry, three battalions each, one regiment of artillery and one of cavalry, will, by law, expire one year after the end of the rebellion. Hence legislation will become necessary in regard to these branches of the military service.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE IN RUSSIA.

The Secretary of State has received a letter from Minister CLAY, dated St. Petersburgh, Oct. 29. As some attempts are being made to deny the existence of the cattle plague in Russia, he quotes extracts from the Russian Gazette, of Moscow, in proof of the fact. Nothing is attempted to arrest the plague. The superstitious people regard that as a sin. Some of the large villages scarcely retain a tenth of their original number. Cattle perish by hundreds and sheep by thousands. The description of the cattle plague does not answer to the one raging in England in all respects; but climate and other surroundings greatly change the symptoms and character of the same disease, as is well-known; and notwithstanding the denial of the Russian authorities, who are much interested in the export of cattle, tallow, hides and wool, Minister CLAY is of the decided opinion that the disease was carried from the Baltic Russian ports to England.

THE CHOLERA IN SPAIN.

The Department of State to-day received, from the United States Consul at Gibraltar, a communication that the Sanitary Board at that port has declared the place free from cholera, and that clean bills of health are issued by the authorities. The Consul states that Spain and Morocco will now probably admit to free pratique arrivals from that port, and that the sanitary cordon by land will soon be raised by the Spanish Government.

REMINISCENCE OF THE WIRZ TRIAL.

One of the witnesses for the prosecution in the case of WIRZ, the Andersonville jailor, was a person who called himself the Marquis DE LA BEUME, who claimed to be a grand nephew of LA FAYETTE. The witness testified to the individual killing or murder committed by WIRZ. During the progress of the trial the Marquis, it is said, obtained the recommendations of members of the military commission for his appointment to a clerkship in the Interior Department, and was afterward appointed by the Secretary of the Interior. Yesterday he was dismissed from his position as clerk upon the representation, as we are informed, of the officers and soldiers of the Seventh New-York (Steuben) Regiment, to which BEUME formerly belonged, and from which, it is alleged, he deserted. It is said the real name of this person is FELIX OBER.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 164.—Ordered, first, that all persons claiming reward for the apprehension of John Wilkes Booth, Lewis Payne, G. A. Atzeroth, and David E. Harrold and Jeff. Davis, or either of them, are notified to file their claims and proofs with the Adjutant-General for final adjudication by the Special Commission appointed to award and determine upon the validity of such claims, before the 1st of January next, after which time no claims will be received.

Second.—The rewards offered for the arrest of Jacob Thompson, Beverly Tucker, George N. Sanders, Wm. G. Cleary and John H. Surratt, are revoked.

By order of the President of the United States.

E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—There was another excellent house at the Academy last night, when "La Sonnambula" was given in a truly excellent manner. We have never heard Sig. IRFRE to better advantage than in the part of Elvino, and he fully deserved the great applause after the andante of the duet in the first act. He sang with truly artistic taste, and showed his fine high notes to great advantage. Sig. ANTONUCCI was very good as the Count, and his singing of the first aria was exceedingly good. Signora ORTOLANI did everything in her power to equal the artiste, who sang the part of Amina before her. Next week will be mainly taken up by the rehearsals and the performance of the "Africaine," which opera will be given positively on Friday next. In consequence of the necessity for rehearsals, no opera will be given on Tuesday, but an extra performance will be given on Saturday next. On Monday the favorite opera of the season, "Crispino e la Comare," will be given the last time. To-day "Fra Diavolo" is on the programme for the matinée.

MRS. BOSTWICK'S CONCERT.—Mrs. EMMA GILLINGHAM BOSTWICK—a lady who will be remembered with pleasure by our readers, and who, after a long absence, has just returned to the city—will give a concert at Irving Hall to-night. Mrs. BOSTWICK has provided a fine programme, which will be interpreted by Mme. L. ABEL, (pianiste,) Mr. GEORGE SIMPSON, (tenor,) Mons. L. C. COLLIERE, (baritone,) Mr. ED. MOLLENHAUER, and the lady herself.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—This afternoon at 2 o'clock, "Arrah-na-Pogue" will be given as a "matinée," with Mr. T. H. GLENNY as Shaun, and Miss AGNES PERRY as Meelish. It will be repeated in the evening.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—M. DE WALDEN'S "Sam" will hold his seventh "matinée" this afternoon, at 1 o'clock; Miss OLIVE LOGAN assisting.

NEW-YORK CIRCUS.—At 2½ o'clock, to-day, a "matinée" will be held at the New-York Circus, formerly the Hippotheatron, in Fourteenth-street. JAMES ROBINSON and his infant son CLARENCE, will perform their wonderful "bare-back" act, which is considered one of the most daring ever attempted by any equestrians.

AN EVENING WITH THE PHUNNY PHOKES.—Such is the atrocious title given by Mr. EDWARD UNDERHILL to a mélange of familiar talk, of which he will relieve himself this evening at the Assembly Rooms, corner of Fulton-avenue and Jay-street, Brooklyn. If the deliverer is half as entertaining in public as he is in private, those who do not attend will miss a rich treat.

FROM NASHVILLE.

Measures Against Robbers—Markets.

NASHVILLE, Friday, Nov. 24.

A meeting has been called by the Mayor of the citizens of the county to protect themselves against the bands of robbers and murderers who infest this city and the surrounding country. Citizens from each ward were enrolled for patrol duty. The citizens of Davidson County assembled at the Courthouse to-day and passed resolutions to organize a force for the suppression of robbers and lawlessness in the surrounding country. Twenty-five men were detailed to serve in districts. Gen. WHIPPLE has proposed to equip and mount sufficient men to coöperate with this force, and effectually exterminate the desperadoes, who are in our midst. A request was made on Judge FRAZER, of the Criminal Court, for a special jury for the assassins of Mr. HEFFERNAN.

The cotton market is still declining and is very dull. To-day the receipts were 700 bales, and the shipments 386; prices 40c.@44c. for Middling, closing at 40c.

Movements of Gov. Curtin—He will Visit Cuba for his Health.

HARRISBURGH, Friday, Nov. 24.

Gov. CURTIN has been confined to the Executive mansion since his return from New-York, until to-day. Gov. CURTIN is in his second term, and now after four years of unparalleled labor, for the first time yields to the suggestions of his physician and his friends, to relinquish his official duties for a short time, while he goes to Cuba for rest and recuperation. He will be accompanied by Mrs. CURTIN, Surgeon-General PHILLIPS, and one or two intimate relatives. The party have secured passage on the steamer which leaves for New-York next week. The Governor will return in time to prepare his annual message for the coming session of the Legislature.

FIRE IN ONE HUNDRED AND SECOND-STREET.—An unknown incendiary set fire, yesterday morning about 2 o'clock, to a quantity of hay owned by S. MCCLINTOCK, and lying in One Hundred and Second-street and Ninth-avenue. The hay, which was all destroyed, was valued at $200 and insured.

SOUTHERN AID SOCIETY.—This society, having been obliged to suspend its operations during the war, resumed its benevolent work, with good prospect of its future usefulness in ai

Inflammation and Pain are as Inseparable as fire and heat. Inflammation produces pain, and pain produces inflammation. Wherever there is unnatural heat, throbbing or redness, no matter whether it is caused by a fever, a hurt, a sore, poison, rheumatism, piles, scald, burn or sting, there is inflammation. A hundred books or a thousand sermons cannot alter or change the conclusion. To relieve pain and restore nature, inflammation must be subdued. To accomplish this the efforts of the physician are always directed. Thousands of physicians, and tens of thousands of the first and most sagacious persons who have used DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, are convinced, and admit that its control over inflammation is most wonderful and immediate, instantly allaying the pain, neutralising poison, extracting morbid secretions, and forcing nature to resume her course, renewing and healing. No burn, scald, sore or ailment is too severe to yield to its soothing and curing influence. Apply it immediately, and the cure has commenced.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!
DR. VON EISENBERG'S
ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON,
THE CELEBRATED APPARATUS.
From the New-York Express.

So many able and earnest men are devoting themselves to medical investigation, that it would be strange if new discoveries were not made. Among the most brillant of these—we may indeed say the most brilliant of all—is that of Dr. VON EISENBERG, in regard to the Etherealization of Medicines; we may properly call it the "Spiritualization," since the Latin Spiritus, whence comes our word "Spiritual," signifies primarily, simply 'the air."

Many of the most important and vital organs of the human frame cannot be reached by medicines in a solid or even in a liquid form. Thus the lungs are shut up in a bony chest to which access can be had only through the wind-pipe, the opening of which is closed by a valve, called the "epiglottis," so sensitive and so delicately constructed, that it will not allow the passage, except by main force, of the most minute crumb, or the smallest drop of liquid. Every person who has "swallowed the wrong way" the smallest substance, whether of liquid or solid, knows the feeling of strangulation thereby occasioned. A man cannot, if he would, voluntarily swallow any liquid or solid into the lungs, or the passage leading to them. Herein lies the true reason why Consumption has been so incurable.

As to the entire apparatus, we have no hesitation in saying that we regard it as a wonderful invention—one that, were it not so costly, we have little doubt would be adopted by every hospital and medical college in the country. We are satisfied it would well repay, even if he had to journey all the way from Europe, the scientific man to see and examine it. It is a marvel of mechanical complexity, and yet, when its multiform uses are considered, of extreme simplicity and great beauty. That it will in every respect fulfill the expectations of the inventor, we have every reason to believe. It has been constructed with an accurate knowledge of its ultimate uses. One so experienced in the specialities for which it is particularly intended as is Dr. Von Eisenberg, and for which he has long felt the necessity in his practice, could make no failure. With it he is enabled to surmount obstacles that were hitherto deemed all but impossible to control. He can now approach with certainty and diagnose thoroughly every disease that, in the course of his extended practice, he aims to master. To those, therefore, who are in any way afflicted with loss of sight or hearing, with catarrh, bronchitis, chest or lung diseases, we earnestly suggest a visit to the consulting apartments of Dr. VON EISENBERG. There he will be speedily made to know the possibility of a cure in even complicated cases. We hereto observe that the apparatus is intended also to bring the etherealized medicines into direct action upon the nerves. The nervous system is the source of many diseases. All physicians admit this, and all profess at least to be able to apply a remedy. The Allopathic, Homeopathic and Hydropathic, by prescribing opiates, anodynes, &c., may, and do, alleviate the pain arising from impaired or diseased nerves; but this does not restore the nerve, it is only temporary relief—a relief, too, to some one nerve at the expense of the entire system. The Æsthetico-Neuralgicon of Dr. Von Eisenberg not merely allays the irritation, but restores the nerve to its normal condition. The Doctor's theory is, that each nerve has a specific office, and has its own peculiar susceptibility. Thus, for example, the nerve of vision is insensible to touch; and, on the other hand, the nerve of touch is insensible to light, and so on through the whole system.

From the Journal of Commerce.

We think it is but just to Dr. Von Eisenberg to call public attention to him. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, if not actually praying for death, who are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is in his power to make them whole or not.

HEARING RESTORED BY A SINGLE APPLICATION OF THE ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON.
READ! READ!
NEW-YORK, May 4, 1865.

I have been induced, by the great number of certificates continually published in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's skill, to apply to him for advice concerning my deafness of many years' standing. I placed myself under his care, and to my utmost delight he made me hear perfectly well by a single painless application of Dr. Von Eisenberg's "Æsthetico-Neuralgicon." I have great pleasure in being able to state that his skill in restoring hearing surpasses anything I ever saw or heard of. His attention to the patient is highly commendable.

JOHN WAKELY, No. 104 Monroe-st.

MIRACULOUS CURE OF THE CHRONIC CATARRH, ASSUMING THE FORM OF CONSUMPTION.

I have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, and a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting of blood. I have been treated by many eminent physicians without success. Recently the Catarrh became so offensive that I could not go into society. Hearing of DR. VON EISENBERG'S new invention, I thought I would apply to him as a last resource. Having been satisfied with his diagnosis, I submitted to his treatment, and have every reason to be abundantly satisfied, as I am completely cured, and my health so much renovated that I feel better than I felt for the last fifteen years. It is a blessing that experience gives the Doctor the power to restore such a shattered constitution to perfect vigor. I now feel very happy to be able to give this testimonial in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's inimitable skill.

RESTORATION OF SIGHT.

I, Lawrence Grenna, No. 186 East 36th-st., New-York City, have been suffering from blindness of the left eye for a considerable period. The eye was continually in a state of great inflammation, from which the good eye became affected, and, indeed, my general health was greatly injured by it. Hearing of Dr. Von Eisenbergs' great reputation, and as every one said mine was a hopeless case, I called on the Doctor, who, after examining me, undertook my case, and within a fortnight I found myself almost completely cured. It is now a month since I placed myself under Dr. Von Eisenberg's treatment, and I am happy to be able to state that the inflammation is entirely gone, so that I see perfectly with both eyes, added to which I am in good health—a blessing I have not enjoyed since I was blind. I do conscientiously and gratefully swear to the above statement, in a court of justice, at the City Hall o. the City of New-York, the 10th day of October, 1864.

LAWRENCE GRENNA.

Sworn before me this 10th day of October, 1864.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANOTHER GREAT CURE IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK,
of a highly respectable citizen, well known to the mercantile community,
BY DR. J. H. SCHENCK,
THE GREAT LUNG DOCTOR OF PHILADELPHIA.

OFFICE OF NEW-YORK AND GALENA LEAD CO.,
No. 23 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK, June 1, 1863.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK—Dear Sir: For over fifteen years I have been troubled with severe cough, and usually two or three times a year with more or less hemorrhage, which, together, for the last few years, have kept me thin in flesh and too weak to do business of any kind without suffering. In August last I had a very severe hemorrhage, and according to the judgment of a good New-York physician, I was classed as beyond the reach of medicine, and was advised to be prepared, so far as property matters were concerned, to leave the world at short notice. This physician (and my good friends) said "that the first severe cold I took must prove fatal." Early in January I took a very severe cold, and fortunately was occupying rooms at No. 32 Bond-st., directly over your office. I think, about the 16th of January, I procured a bottle of your Pulmonic Syrup, and commenced taking it freely. My feet and limbs were very much swollen, and all the symptoms of a speedy death seemed to accompany my cold. I sent for my former physician, and stated to him that I was taking your medicines, and after showing them to him, and having tasted of them, &c., he replied: "You can take them if you like, they will do you no harm." He said: "You know what I told you last Summer, and I say the same now—if you have any business to close up, do not put it off." He said to other friends that "he could see no hope for me," and my friends and relations concluded my time had come. At this time I was taking freely of your medicines, but had not seen you. The Doctor called a few times, and found me (much to his surprise, he said,) improving, and he could not understan; why. My faith was increasing in your medicine, and I had a wish to have you examine my case and see what you had to say. When you first came to my room and made the examination, you gave me out little encouragement, but, on the contrary, expressed doubts of my ever being helped out of my then seeming difficulties. The second time that you called, finding me still gaining, you gave me encouragement, saying "my symptoms were improving: the Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills had acted like a charm." My circulation, my cough, my appetite, all began to improve, and I could walk about my room a little. You visited me nearly every Tuesday, and found me improving, and told me not to go out of my room until the first day of May. I took no cold while under your treatment, and my appetite became first-rate, and you told me to eat everything I wished of a nutritious nature, and to exercise about the room as much as possible. I followed your advice, and, to the surprise of my old physician and friends, I seem much better than I have for several years, and breathe better than I ever expected a person could with one lung, the left being completely dried up. I feel very grateful to you, and consider your advice and medicines invaluable.
Yours truly, T. S. SHELDON.

N. B.—A full supply of Dr. SCHENCK'S medicines can be obtained at all times at his rooms, No. 32 Bond-st., New-York, and the Doctor may be seen there professionally every TUESDAY, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

The object of this unique and novel work is to bring the Fine Arts to the aid of the great spiritual truths of religion, and by presenting them to the eye in a picturesque and attractive shape, to impress them more deeply on the mind. The illustrations comprise a series of RICHLY ILLUMINATED PLATES, EMBLAZONED IN GOLD AND SILVER, IN THE STYLE OF THE ANCIENT MISSAL DECORATIONS, IMPROVED AND CHASTENED BY THE REFINEMENTS OF MODERN ART.

In one elegant quarto volume, massively bound in Levant and Turkey Morocco, beveled, antique, richly gilt sides and edges. Price, $20; in cloth, beveled and extra gilt, $15. Put up in a neat box.

THE BOOK OF RUBIES.
A collection of the most notable Love Poems in the English Language. In one vol. crown octavo, printed by Alvord, in two colors, on superfine extra calendered tinted paper, bound in extra illuminated cloth, full gilt, price, $7; the same in Turkey Morocco, antique, $10; do. extra, $10. Put up in a neat box.

There is no love-poem of note omitted, and with all those gems long known to the public, there are numerous others hitherto overlooked because of the demerits of the authors in other fields of literary labor, or because they were the single songs of those who never sung well but once. Arrayed with reference to the dates at which the authors flourished, the poems furnish a fair view of the progress of erotic poetry, and allow a comparison of styles and merit, not to be otherwise attained, except by laborious and not over-profitable reading. Every shade of human passion, except the sensual, is illustrated; and it confers credit on the editor, to see how happily pure is the result of his labors.

CIRCULAR.—OFFICE OF KENDRICK & THOMAS, COMMISSION BROKERS.—Miscellaneous stocks and bonds, State, county, city and railroad securities not quoted at the New-York Stock Exchange. Also bonds of the Southern States, their municipalities and corporations. No. 42 Exchange-place. (Late the office of Geo. W. Hodges, Esq.)

NEW-YORK, Nov. 15, 1865.

We give our exclusive attention to buying and selling stocks and bonds not sold or quoted at the regular stock board, and make that business a specialty. Having had several years' experience in that line of business, with an extensive acquaintance and correspondence throughout the United States, we are prepared to execute orders for the purchase and sale of every description of security in the shape of bonds and stocks of the several States, their municipalities and corporations—having an intimate knowledge of their values and markets. We keep a record of every change effecting prices, and are thoroughly posted on all points. It would be advantageous to parties desiring to sell, and we recommend them to register their securities at our office, so that investors calling daily may select and purchase, thereby meeting an easy, ready ad prompt sale. We have a number of institutions with whom we negotiate large lots of State, City and county bonds, and are receiving orders from them from time to time to make purchases. At the present we are dealing extensively in Southern securities, comprising State, city and railway stocks and bonds. Parties wishing to register can do so by letter or otherwise, without expense, and no commissions charged unless sales are effected. A complete description and limit in price is important. We have established our business upon a systematic basis, and our house is the only one in the line of business embracing the whole field and mass of outside securities. Quotations freely given, and prompt attention to all matters of business.

THE MURDER IN BROOKLYN.

Pellicer Identified by a Friend—The Inquest to be Commenced To-day.

Last evening the District-Attorney, Mr. S. D. MORRIS, and Police Surgeon COCHRAN, visited the man PELLICER, who is now confined in the Forty-fourth Precinct Station-house, on the charge of being implicated in the murder of Mr. ORTEGO. They examined his person, and found his right hand cut across the fingers, as indicated by the glove found in the Park. The cuts are clean, and show that they were made with a sharp instrument. His clothes were also examined, and they were found to be bloody. A young Spaniard named JUAN VELE, called to see the prisoner yesterday. He represented himself as a cook in a French boarding-house, and that he boarded at the Hotel de Cuba, in Bleecker-street, New-York. He stated that he had furnished PELLICER with money for ten days, in consequence of being out of employment, and in needy circumstances. Some days ago, he (the visitor) had invited several ladies to go to the theatre, and wished his friend PELLICER to go along. In order to make him look somewhat decent, he bought him a pair of kid gloves, and he (Mr. VELE) identified the gloves which were cut across the fingers as the ones he bought. Mr. VELE saw GONZALES at the Hotel de Cuba at different times. On Wednesday last, about 7 o'clock in the morning, GONZALES came there, and inquired for Mr. PELLICER, who came down to the door, and admitted him. GONZALES said he desired lodgings, and was then invited by PELLICER to his room up stairs. The servant girl was in the meantime directed to see the landlady, and ask her whether she could accommodate him. She sent word that she could. Mr. VELE occupied the same bed with PELLICER the night previous, and was present when GONZALES came to the room. GONZALES asked PELLICER to come one side, and they engaged in a private conversation, which continued for some time. The parties subsequently went down stairs. In the evening, about 7:30 o'clock, GONZALES and another man, supposed to be ORTEGO, called at the hotel. VELE was there at the time. GONZALES said to PELLICER, "Come, let's go," and PELLICER answered, "Wait, I forgot something in my room," and he forthwith went up stairs into a room which had previously been locked, and returned. The party then took a walk toward Broadway. VELE found, from the action of the others, that he was not wanted in their company, and left them. GONZALES, ORTEGA, and a young Spaniard continued their way down Broadway. That was the last that he saw of the deceased. PELLICER was not seen at the hotel after that evening. When he left the house he wore a spotted calico shirt, a white Derby hat, and dark mixed coat, vest and pantaloons. The clothing was found saturated with blood. The prisoner denies any knowledge of the murder, but refuses to look at the body of the murdered man. He pretends not to understand English, but will converse in Spanish with friends. Yesterday he was permitted to speak with an acquaintance, and it was ascertained that they communicated with each other in some other than the Spanish language. The conversation was cut short by Capt. WADDY, who was present.

The post-mortem examination will be made this morning, and the inquest will be commenced at 11 o'clock A. M. to-day.

SYMMETRY OF CHARACTER.—THE American Baptist talks to ill-balanced Clergymen; The Christian and the Sinner, in PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL.

CONSTITUTION

LIFE SYRUP.

A positive and specific remedy for all diseases originating from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, and for all (hereditary) DISEASES transmitted from PARENT TO CHILD.

SCROFULA,

STRUMA, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS,

ULCERATION, KING'S EVIL,

ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM.

This taint, (HEREDITARY and ACQUIRED,) filling life with untold misery, is by all usual medical remedies incurable.

RHEUMATISM.

If there is any disease in which the Constitution Life Syrup is a sovereign, it is in rheumatism and its kindred affections. The most intense pains are almost instantly alleviated—enormous swellings are reduced. Cases, chronic or vicarious, of twenty or thirty years' standing, have been cured.

NERVOUSNESS.

NERVOUS DEBILITY, SHATTERED NERVES,

ST. VITUS' DANCE, LOSS OF POWER,

CONFUSION OF THOUGHTS, EPILEPSY.

Thousands who have suffered for years will bless the day on which they read these lines. Particularly to weak, suffering women will this medicine prove an inestimable blessing—directing their footsteps to a Hope which fulfils more than it promises.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.

SALIVATION. ROTTING OF BONES.

BAD COMPLEXION. ACHES IN BONES.

FEELING OF WEARINESS. DEPRESSION OF SPIRITS.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP purges the system entirely from all the evil effects of MERCURY, removing the Bad Breath, curing the Weak Joints and Rheumatic Pains which the use of Calomel is sure to produce. It hardens Spongy Gums and secures the Teeth as firmly as ever.

Constitution Life Syrup

Eradicates, root and branch, all Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, like

ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES

And all other difficulties of this kind, which so much disfigure the outward appearance of both males and females, often making them a disgusting object to themselves and their friends.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

Cures all Swelling of the Glands,

Either of the Face, Neck, or Female Breast, and should be taken as soon as the swelling is detected, thus preventing their breaking, and producing troublesome Discharging Sores, which disfigure so many of the younger portion of the community, from six to twenty years of age. Young children are very subject to Discharges from the Ears, which depends upon a Scrofulous constitution. These cases soon recover by taking a few doses of the Life Syrup.

All scrofulous persons suffering from general Debility' Emaciation, Dyspepsia and Dropsy of the limbs, abdomen, and in the female, Dropsy of the ovaries and womb, generally accompanied with Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, are permanently cured by Constitution Life Syrup. The disease known as Goitre or Swelled Neck, the Life Syrup will remove entirely. The remedy should be taken for some time, as the disease is exceedingly chronic and stubborn, and will not be removed without extra effort.

Tumors of the Ovaries, Tumors of the Breast, and swelling of other glands of the body, will be completely reduced without resorting to the knife, or operations of any kind.

Epileptic Fits, Sympathetic or Organic Diseases of the Heart, as palpitation, Disease of the Valves, producing a grating or filing sound, Dropsy of the Heart Case and all the affections of this important organ, (persons suffering from any acute pain in the region of the heart) will be greatly relieved by Constitution Life Syrup.

Broken-down and Delicate Constitutions,

SUFFERING FROM INDISPOSITION TO EXERTION, PAIN IN THE BACK, LOSS OF MEMORY, FOREBODINGS, HORROR OF CALAMITY, FEAR OF DISEASE, DIMNESS OF VISION, DRY, HOT SKIN AND EXTREMITIES, WANT OF SLEEP, RESTLESSNESS, PALE, HAGGARD COUNTENANCE AND LASSITUDE OF THE MUSCULAR SYSTEM, all require the aid of the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

FOR ALL FORMS OF

ULCERATIVE DISEASES,

Either of the NOSE, THROAT, TONGUE, SPINE, FOREHEAD OR SCALP, no remedy has ever proved its equal.

MOTH PATCHES upon the female face depending upon the diseased action of the liver are very unpleasant to the young wife and mother. A few bottles of Constitution Life Syrup will correct the secretion, and remove the deposit which is directly under the skin.

In diseases of the Liver, giving rise to Languor, Dizziness, Indigestion, Weak Stomach or an ulcerated or cancerous condition of that organ, accompanied with burning or other unpleasant symptoms, will be relieved by the use of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

☞ As a general Blood-Purifying Agent, the Life Syrup stands unrivaled by any preparation in the world.

THE RICH AND POOR

are liable to the same diseases. Nature and Science has made the Constitution Life Syrup for the benefit of all.

PURE BLOOD

produces healthy men and women; and if the constitution is neglected in youth, disease and early death is the result.
